D'HARDS VENT THEIR SPLEEN AGAINST W. P. SCHEME

Out Of The Gloaming

* * * *

The Ahmedabad millowners have refused to supply the figures of their profit from 1910 and are at once proceeding to cut down the workers' wages by 25 per cent. They can't afford to give away their trade secrets, for the workers might ask for more wages instead of meekly taking less.

* * * *

Worse still, there are the Japanese and Lancashire men, all watching the philanthropic activities of our millowners. The Government too ought not to be denied the opportunity of doing their bit for the industry by another 25 per cent increase in protection.

* * * *

Sir Hugh Mcpherson writing with inside knowledge to the "Manchester Guardian" says the W.P. ought not to be whittled down, for Gandhiji might inaugurate a fresh C.D. campaign! The danger is the other way about, and there might be Satyagraha against the W.P. when it comes.

* * * *

Another friend of India, Edward Villiers, also wants to save the W.P. for India and fears the Congress will regain its power. He need'nt worry. Officially there is no Congress now—only a monument.

* * * *

But all these gentlemen are not concerned so much with saving the W.P. for India, as saving India for the White Paper. The two things are rather different.

* * * *

Dr. J. N. Choksey wants the Bombay slums to be removed and the workers re-housed within the next ten years, to improve the workers' efficiency. Perhaps, there won't be such necessity, for by that time most of the mills may not be there, owing to excessively efficient management.

* * * *

Mr. J. B. Boman-Behrani opposed on the score of economy. His "penchant" is economy,—economy in wages and economy in expenditure, though not in shareholders' dividends or Governors' addresses.

* * * *

Sir R. K. S. Chetty of Ottawa in a speech at Jamshedpur spoke on the necessity of publicity and said the Jamshedpur people ought to have it. They have already been flooding Anglo-Indian papers with their costly advertisements,—what more can anybody want?

* * * *

Ottawa Chetty spoke about the necessity of a "floodlight of publicity" and said everyone should be kept informed of the industry. At least he is not keeping the country in the dark about his own industry—of collecting welcome addresses from various bodies.

* * * *

Bori Bunder says the Governor's speech to the Deccan Chief constituted the second stage of Village Uplift programme. The third and the last stage is the important ceremony of pigeon-holing. The Secretariat people will perform this with their usual efficiency and the customary poojahs.

* * * *

There is considerable difference of opinion among Indian representatives to the Cotton conference in Simla according to a report, while the Japanese are wonderfully united. Indian traditions must tell in the long run.

* * * *

Bori Bunder says the Governor is anxious to tap the village Patil as an alternative source of leadership for progress on the "right lines." The Collector and the District Magistrate will see to it, perhaps with some new Ordinances.

* * * *

Wonderful isn't it, how they all talk of tapping this source and that, as though the Province were an El Dorado!

* * * *

But there is good news for British experts, who may be out for lucrative jobs just now. A small committee of experts is to be set up—to spend more money out of villagers' pockets!

* * * *

Henceforward the villager's lot will be happy, for he will be economising out of his Rs. 50 per year, his average income! And when he has saved a lot, they may start anyother Back Bay scheme with a huge dredger ordered in advance—for scrapping at the first opportunity.

* * * *

"Why did you break off your engagement, Jack?"

"Well, we were looking over a flat when her mother remarked that it was rather small for three."

Scheme To Cost India £7,000,000

INDIA WILL BE LOST TO EMPIRE, FEARS BACKBAY BARON.

N. Chamberlain Says Reforms Will Increase British Trade With India

LONDON, October 6.

The India Conservative Conference at Birmingham has aroused widespread interest. It was attended by 2,000 delegates. In addition to members of the Cabinet many junior ministers and members of Parliament occupied seats on platform. Sir S. Hoare who was loudly cheered on arrival is not expected to speak.

The Chairman, Sir Geoffrey Ellis, Member of the House of Commons, announced that many more names of the people desirous of speaking had been received than possibly could be heard. Originally there were five resolutions with reference to India on the agenda but it was decided that the whole debate should take place on a resolution moved by Viscount Wolmer recording the confidence in Government, but representing the apprehension regard to the proposals of the White Paper concerning finance, police, the welfare of Indian peoples and trade discrimination.

HUGE COST TO INDIA.

Lord Wolmer, pointing out that the proposed reforms would cost India seven million sterling yearly, said that the welfare of the Indian people demanded utmost economy and efficiency in administration. He asked if anyone believed that the new system was going to give more efficient and economical service.

The Marquis of Hartington seconded the resolution, and laid stress on the risk of Extremists gaining power. He said they were proposing for India constitutional advance in one generation quicker than Britain made in several generations and added that the White Paper proposals would land Britain in an impossible situation unless substantial alterations were made.

SIR T. WHITE'S AMENDMENT.

Strong difference of opinion was revealed when Sir Thomas White (Liverpool) moved an amendment allowing the expression of confidence to remain but substituting for the remainder of the resolution words approving the Government's caution and delaying the final conclusion until the Select Committee finished its labours.

There was a cry of dissent from the body of the hall when Sir T. White said they would never consent to the charge of betrayal or cowardice against Government or members of the Conservative Party.

Mr. P. J. Hannon, seconding the amendment, received a stormy hearing. He appeal to the Conference not to embarrass the man at the wheel but maintain unity and prestige of the Conservative Party.

"DANGEROUS SPEED."

Baron Lloyd asserted that Government wanted to go forward at a dangerous speed, while they advocated proceeding on the basis of the Simon report, testing every step on the way, so that the great experiment might have a real chance of success. The whole effect of the White Paper was that Britons were aliens in India. If India was lost, the Empire would go. If India was lost to England she would have chaos, anarchy and destruction within ten years.

"STIRRING UP BAD BLOOD."

Viscount Elibank, supporting the amendment said Baron Lloyd, Mr. Winston Churchill and Sir H. Pagecroft instead of sitting in the Select Committee were conducting a campaign which was stirring up bad blood and making difficulties when the party ought to be cohesive.

After Lord Howe had spoken in favour of the resolution, Mr. Amery urged the Conference to do nothing to open a breach within the Conservative ranks.

The Duchess of Athol felt very doubtful whether full provincial autonomy was consistent with the welfare of the Indian people in all respects.

Sir H. Page Croft declared that two-thirds of the members of the Select Committee were committed to Self-Government at the Centre before they joined the Select Committee. If they had been asked to carry out findings of the Simon Commission he and others would have joined the Select Committee.

Mr. NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN, who, speaking at India Conservative Conference, defended the Government's proposals for Reforms, and said they offered the best possible prospect for increasing British trade with India.

DEFENCE OF GOVT. PROPOSALS.

Replying on behalf of Government, Mr. Neville Chamberlain pointed out that the majority of those holding most responsible positions in India were satisfied that the Government's proposals were on the right lines. Dealing with the fears expressed in the resolution he said that ample safeguards had been provided for Defence, while he was convinced that the proposals offered the best possible prospect for increasing British trade with India. All dangers had already been foreseen and safeguards devised.

No one denied the right of the Conservative Party to express opinion on any matter, but he appealed to the Conference not to prejudge the issue, but to suspend judgment until the report of the Select Committee was available, and so encourage them in difficult task of trying to create a contented India within the Empire.

On a show of hands the chairman announced the amendment was carried. This led a storm of protest and after a further show of hands the chairman was unable to announce the decision. He, therefore, decided to take the ballot vote.

The amendment was carried by 737 votes against 344.—Reuter.

QUESTION OF EXPORTS & IMPORTS

Talks Between Unofficial Textile Delegations

SIMLA, Oct. 6.

It is understood that to-day's conversations between unofficial textile delegations of Japan and India led to a frank talk.

The Japanese are reported to have taken the view that the large exports from Japan in the past were a matter of accident, and that economic conditions in Japan made such exports impossible without material lowering of Indian tariffs.

The Indian textile interests represented that the question of Japanese exports was not their concern. What they wished to know was whether Japan was prepared so to restrict the quantity of her imports into India as not to injure Indian industry. If so, she should put forward specific proposals.

It is understood that the Japanese desired that the definite proposals should emanate from the Indian side.

The Conference will be resumed on Monday.

Talks between the Government of India delegation and Indian nonofficial advisers were of a general character, and covered, in broad principle, the case of all industries affected, but nothing specific was mentioned. The talks will be resumed on Tuesday. —A. P.

Simla.—The Indian police medal has been conferred on Maganji Gulabji, constable of the Bombay Police, who displayed courage and devotion to duty in tackling singlehanded a desperate man, who had already committed one murder and who was apparently determined to resist capture.—A. P.

Development Of Key Industries

MR. JAYAKAR STRESSES INDIA'S RIGHT

States' Treaty Right Are Outside Federation, Pleads Sir M. Mehta

LONDON, Oct. 6.

Legal technicalities connected with limitation of powers of Indian legislatures laid down in paragraphs 119 to 121 of the White Paper were exhaustively examined at yesterday morning's sitting of the Select Committee. Various suggestions were made with a view to clarifying intentions of the White Paper, and numerous views were submitted with regard to the precise bearing of these until Lord Reading at one point remarked that the proceedings were in danger of becoming a debate between lawyers.

SIR S. HOARE TO ISSUE NOTE.

Sir S. Hoare gave an assurance that such questions had been most carefully considered by the constitutional lawyers of Whitehall, and promised to discuss the questions with them again, and circulate a note thereon.

Among the points which emerged were that the Indian legislature was not empowered ordinarily to amend the Constitution Act, but was free to discuss a resolution thereon; that with the consent of the Governor-General the legislature was competent to deal with the rupee ratio; and that the Reserve Bank Act was only alterable with the approval of Parliament.

Mr. Morgan Jones: "In view of the incident which had happened in the Empire recently" asked, why the Governor-General's consent was required for discussion of matters relating to criminal proceedings against European British subjects.

NOT REVIVING PAST BITTERNESS.

Sir S. Hoare related the history of the compromise on this subject, and said it was included in the list owing to the desire not to revive the past bitterness.

Mr. Jayakar laid stress on the Indian opposition to the requirement of the Governor-General's sanction for coinage and currency legislation.

Sir S. Hoare replied that he was aware of it, but expressed the opinion that the retention of the safeguard was essential in view of the difficult financial conditions which had arisen.

Sir S. Hoare informed Sir Manubhai Mehta that States' treaty rights were outside the Federation.

SANCTITY OF TREATIES.

He (Sir S. Hoare) felt that Princes were entitled to some reference to the sanctity of treaties, and indicated that the best place for it would be a Crown Proclamation.

Lord Lytton suggested that sanction should be required for legislation affecting the special rights of landlords, such as Taluqdars of Oudh and Inamdars of Bombay, also landlords under the permanent settlement.

Sir S. Hoare said he was impressed with the case submitted by the landowners' representatives, last summer, and added he would welcome the advice of the Select Committee on the subject.

COMMERCIAL DISCRIMINATION.

The whole question of commercial discrimination was re-traversed in the afternoon when Sir Alan Anderson, who, accompanied by Messrs. R. B. Dunwoody, M. W. Watt and P. Maurice Hill, gave evidence on behalf of the British Chambers and Shipowners' Parliamentary Committee, and presented a memorandum directed to the commercial and economic aspects of the White Paper, particularly the "safeguards necessary in the mutual interest of India and Britain for British capital and business interests in India."

Sir A. Anderson urged the necessity of making constitutional safeguards against commercial discrimination completely watertight, and made suggestions to that end.

EQUAL APPLICATION OF LAWS.

Sir A. Anderson was closely questioned by Indian members, the trend of whose examination was directed to the view that provided the principle of prohibition of discrimination was agreed to, working out of it should be left to the growth of convention and agreement between the two countries.

He agreed to the desirability of business men negotiating, and quoted with approval the example of British cotton interests. He said: "We fully realise that India must make up her mind about the laws she passes, but the laws must apply equally to Indians and Britishers."

He contended that it was unfair and impracticable to place on the Governor-General and Governors the duty of preventing commercial discrimination, and declared that the law must be specific.

KEY INDUSTRIES.

Mr. Jayakar raised the question of India's right to develop her key industries (particularly in case of war) in competition with the already established British industries in India.

Mr. Chamberlain did not doubt that that would be discrimination.

Sir A. Anderson concurred.

EVIDENCE OF I. E SOCIETY.

The Indian Empire Society gave evidence this morning, and continues its evidence on the evening of 9th October, to which date the Select Committee has adjourned.

Sir S. Hoare gives evidence during remainder of the week, in the course of which it is expected the question of Burma will come up.—Reuter.

Cries of 'unheard of,' 'prejudiced,' and other epithets from Dimitroff ended in his expulsion from the Court in to-day's fire trial.

The incident was the culmination of a series of statements from Dimitroff in which he angered the Court by alleging that the police were manufacturing evidence. The President ruled this out, forbidding Dimitroff to defend himself by insulting officials.

Dimitroff firmly denied police allegations of his association with German Communists.—Reurer's Special.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Feeling Great

If you wake up in the morning feeling sour and depressed, entirely lacking in vim and vigour, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil or harsh purgatives and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

They can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The real reason for your run down feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Your stomach is filled with gas. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "tip top". They contain wonderful, harmless gentle vegetable extracts especially effective when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Always look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the Red Package Label.

MURDER CHARGE FAILS

Three Hindus Acquitted By High Court

Mr. Justice Shigne at the High Court Sessions acquitted Madhu Natha, Parbati Baloo and Shripat Babaji on the jury finding them not guilty, by 6 to 3, in connection with murder and grievous hurt charges.

The accused, it was alleged, went to the assistance of one Mukud Rao (absconding) who had a quarrel with the deceased Ramkrishna. The first accused was alleged to have used a knife in the assault.

The defence was that this was a got-up case, and that the accused had no grievance against the deceased with whom they were friendly.

ALLEGED CHEATING BY FALSE CHARGES

Indian Journalist Charges Editor Of Racing Journal

An interesting case in which A. E. Bennette, a European, stands charged with cheating in respect of a loan transaction of Rs. 150, is being heard by Mr. I. N. Mehta, Presidency Magistrate, Girgaum Court.

The complainant in the case is Mr. I. S. Andrews, a journalist and at present the correspondent in India for the Havas Agency, Paris.

In the course of his information the complainant stated that the accused represented himself as the proprietor of Dumpur and Co., and editor of the "Racing Chronicle," situated at Akbar Building, Hornby Road.

In the month of August last year, the complainant alleged, the accused took from him two loans of Rs. 20 and Rs. 50 respectively and repaid the loans on the due dates.

FRESH LOAN OF RS. 150

On September 5 of last year, the complainant, further alleged, the accused approached him and asked for a loan of Rs. 150 on the representation that he urgently required the same for the purpose of making a deposit in view of his becoming an Agent of the Western India Oil company for selling oil at Crawford Market. The complainant believed the story and gave him a cheque for Rs. 140 in exchange for two cheques of the accused for Rs. 75 each. The two cheques given by the accused were post dated and drawn on the Eastern Bank. The difference of Rs. 10 was on account of interest and commission incidental to the collection of the said two cheques.

CHEQUE DISALLOWED

The complainant further stated that on September 19, 1932, he presented the first cheque given by the accused to the Eastern Bank but the same was dishonoured and returned unpaid. He instituted inquiries and learnt that the accused had filed his petition for insolvency on Sept. 8 of that year. He also learnt that the Eastern Bank had closed the account of the accused.

The complainant therefore contended that the accused practiced confidence trick upon him by obtaining two loans of Rs. 20 and Rs. 50 respectively and repaying the same on the appointed dates.

NO INTENTION TO REPAY

He further alleged that the accused obtained the third loan with no intention of repaying the same. He contended that in the schedule which the accused filed in the Insolvency Court two days after obtaining the loan the accused had not disclosed his indebtedness to him. He therefore charged the accused with cheating.

The complainant gave evidence in the case on Thursday and further hearing was adjourned to October 27.

MUSLIMS ACQUITTED OF ASSAULT CHARGE

Trouble At Election Meeting And Its Sequel

Mr. Oscar Brown, Presidency Magistrate, Mazagaon, delivered judgment on Friday acquitting three Muslims who had been charged with assaulting a member of a rival party at the election of the Konkni Jamat on Dec. 25 last year.

From the evidence it appears that at the time of the election for the presidentship of the "Jamat," there were scenes of excitement, followed by a general uproar at the meeting, consequent upon the attempt of the supporters of Moulvi Hindadey, who were in a majority, at the meeting to dominate the other party.

MOULVI'S BROTHER ASSAULTED.

It appears, the Moulvi's party took hold of the minute book, though they were not the custodians of it, and refused to part with it to Shahabuddin Sherfuddin who was the legal custodian, upon which the whole trouble started. It was alleged that in the melee, the brother of the Moulvi, whose supporters were in a majority at the meeting, was assaulted by persons of the rival party.

Thereupon the police arrested Shahbuddin Sherfuddin, Gulam Mohemad and Ibranim Shahbuddin.

The Magistrate, in his order, found the evidence before him regarding the assault so conflicting that the charge of assault could not be sustained. He remarked that the truth appeared to be that the majority party was trying to dominate over the minority and the trouble started. Since the evidence of the assault was not proved, he passed orders, acquitting the accused.

Alleged Murder Of Baby

Two More Women Arrested By Police On Suspicion

Two more arrests have been made by the Gamdevi police, in connection with the murder of a newly-born child which was discovered buried in the Chowpatty sands on Wednesday.

Kalyanibai Ramchandra, the 18-year old mother of the child is already in the custody of the police, having been arrested, it is alleged, while returning from Chowpatty after the disposal of the body.

TWO WOMEN ARRESTED

The police have now effected the arrest of (1) Gangabai Hari, (45), a woman managing a boarding house at Suratwalla Chawl at Charni Road and (2) Kalyanibai Manjoonath, another woman.

The suspects were put up before the Presidency Magistrate, Girgaum Court on Friday when the police stated that the mother of the murdered child was living with these two women in room No. 3 of Suratwalla Chawl. Their inquiries revealed that Kalyanibai Ramchandra gave birth to a child on Tuesday night, and it is alleged the child was murdered by the mother.

INSTIGATION ALLEGED

The police suspected Gangabai, the boarding house-keeper as having instigated her to dispose of the body at Chowpatty while Kalyanibai Ramchandra, it is alleged, accompanied her to Chowpatty and helped in the disposal of the body.

As inquiries were yet incomplete the police asked for the remand of the two suspects into custody till October 17.

The application was granted.

REMEMBER teeth are living parts of your body. They may be ill through lack of the proper nourishment—Calcium.

—but now you can

Cure your teeth from within—

KALZANA, the Calcium food, is the new idea in the care of the teeth. For many years people thought that a clean tooth could not decay. Yet however carefully we cleaned them they always did decay. For your teeth are living organs of the body; they may be weak, they may be ill and underfed. Through microscopic canals they get their food (calcium) from the blood.

Weak teeth give continuous trouble. By taking Kalzana, the calcium food, you can make your teeth strong and white and prevent decay

A well-known dental surgeon writes:

"Kalzana makes the teeth strong and hard and so stops tooth decay. I have often seen extraordinary results."

Keep your teeth clean with a dentifrice, but make them strong with Kalzana. Only then will you be really free from decay. Kalzana will make your teeth hard and healthy. Moreover, Kalzana strengthens the whole constitution and gives your whole body increased powers of resistance.

WONDERFUL AIR PICTURE AT PATHE

"The Eagle & The Hawk" With Fredric March

Large crowds yesterday witnessed the opening of "The Eagle and the Hawk" at Pathe Cinema. This is a big Paramount production with an exceptional cast, which includes Fredric March, Sir Guy Standing, Cary Grant, Carole Lombard and Jack Oakie. Although the scents of air warfare are probably more thrilling and more realistic than any we have seen on the screen, the main beauty of the picture is in its exceptionally strong story and wonderful acting.

Jerry Young, wealthy clubman; Henry Crocker, a two-fisted construction boss, and Mike Richards, a wise-cracking blade from the hinterlands, are thrown together in a Royal Flying Corps training school when the war breaks out.

Young, who has no particular fondness for Crocker, truthfully tells his colonel that the latter can't fly; and, when the re- the squadron is sent overseas, Crocker is left behind to be trained as an observer. Before Young sails, however, Crocker gives him a trashing in repayment for his speech to the colonel.

Later Crocker, as an observer, joins the squadron at the front. He finds that Young is king-pin of the outfit, with several German planes to his credit. The feud flares anew. There's another fight, with Crocker getting the worst of it this time, however. But Crocker succeeds in getting himself assignid to the observer's cockpit of Young's plane.

As time goes on the two prove to be an unbeatable combination in the air. Young's skilful handling of his plane; Crocker's deadly handling of his guns, combine to write finis to the career of many an enemy flyer. But they remain bitterly hateful towards each other personally. Common danger and indications that Young is breaking under the strain of continuous slaughter ultimately temper Crocker's hatred. He expresses his fears for his team-mate's morale to the squadron commander, who sends the latter to London for a month's furlough. It is there that he meets and spends one lovely night with a woman who understands.

Young returns to the front, refreshed and reinvigorated, on time to see his pal Richards taxi in and slump dead in the cockpit, a victim of Greentail's flying skill. His disgust for war and Crocker returns when he learns his pal's death is due to Crocker's desire to engage Greentail in combat when their only mission over the lines was to get photographs. When, that next day, a young observer flying with him is killed, Young becomes more bitter. His bitterness is even greater when ultimately he engages Greentail in combat, and brings him down. He looks at the enemy ace; is horrified to discover him a mere boy.

Though he is sickened at what has happened, his companions insist on staging a celebration in his honor. A general races from division headquarters with a new medal. When Young is called upon to speak, he stands up and hysterically shouts his denunciation of the needless slaughter. He is humoured; thty think he is drunk.

Young staggers to his bunk, picks up his pistol, and kills himself. Crocker, following in great concern finds him there. But he refuses to allow the rest of the squadron to know what has happened. He loads the body into a combat plane and takes off. Over the enemy lines he looses a spray of bullets into his dead comrade, crashes the plane to earth.

"WHISTLING IN THE DARK" AT CAPITOL

Ernest Truex Scores As Author Of Perfect Crime

"Whistling in the Dark," which opens to-night at the Capitol Theatre, is a likely candidate for the year's best mystery comedy. It is another Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer hit.

It brings to the screen in Ernest Truex, a comedian who is both old and new to Hollywood. During the earlier years, while he was rising to fame as the leading character of the speaking stage, Truex appeared in several silent films, but it remained for this, his first talking picture, to reveal to picture-fans the great power for laughter he wields.

Truex starred in the Broadway stage production for eleven solid months in "Whistling in the Dark," and picture critics must now agree with their New York stage brethern that both as to comedy and spine-chilling thrills, here is a play which ranks with the very best.

Una Merkel, who distinguished herself as a comedienne in "Red-Headed Woman," again gives a delightful and droll performance. Edward Arnold and John Miljian, as leaders of a band of crooks who hold Truex and Miss Merkel captive, are well cast and competent work is done by Henry Gordon, Johnny Hines, who turns from comedy to character acting, Joseph Cawthorn, Nat Pendelton, Tenen Holtz and Marcella Corday.

The plot brings Truex, as an author of best-selling mystery novels, and his fiancee, Miss Merkel, into the lair of a band of law-breakers who are fighting for control of the brewing business after it has become legal. When Truex boasts how in his stories, he devises the "perfect crime," they insist that he planned one for them.

How he plans this crime, only to learn that the gang are going to wipe both himself and the girls out, and then sets about saving the intended victim, who is hundreds of miles away aboard a speeding train, provides the material for the suspense and laughter of the story. This M.-G.-M. film brings to light a most promising director in Elliott Nugent.

"ADORABLE" TO BE REPEATED AT CARLTON

Heralded as one of the outstanding motion pictures "Adorable," the new Fox production, starring Janet Gaynor and Henry Garat will be continued for second week at the Carlton Theatre.

The story of the film is said to give America's popular actress her best opportunities. It calls for extreme capabilities in acting, singing and the dance. In her quest of the handsome soldier of the guard, Miss Gayner reveals talents hitherto not credited to her. Her leading man is Cary Grant, whose dual portrayal in "Congress Dances" will be always remembered.

The supporting cast is headed by C. Aubrey Smith, veteran character actor, and Herbert Mundin, one of the leading comics of the screen.

An important feature of "Adorable" is the musical background and accompaniment. The music is by Werner Richard Heymann, with additional songs and lyrics by Richard A. Whiting and George Marlen, Jr.

A scene from "The Eagle and the Hawk", a Paramount picture, featuring Fredric March, Cary Grant and Carole Lombard, which commenced at the Pathe Cinema on Friday.

JOHN BOLES AND NANCY CARROL AT WELLINGTON

"Child of Manhattan", a Columbia screen—triumph which will be on view this week at the Wellington Talkies, Dhobi Talao, is a delightful and intriguing story featuring a strong cast headed by John Boles and Nancy Carroll for the first time together as a romantic pair.

Miss Carroll is ideal as the dance hall girl who gives her love to the handsome, rich New York man-about-town which in turn is ably portrayed by that favourite of the musical photoplays, John Boles.

The supporting cast also is of a high calibre, particularly the characterizations offered by Charles Jones, as a clean-cut suitor from the West; Jessie Ralph a Broadway stage favorite who makes her first screen appearance in "Child of Manhattan" as Aunt Minnie, an old topper who loves Miss Carroll, Nat Pendleton, Luis Alberni, Tyler Brooke, Jane Darwell and Betty Kendall.

The story was brought to the screen from the noted New York stage success of the same title by Preston Sturges. It is a picture which has all the ingredients to make entertainment of a fine standard—story, suspense, drama, comedy, production value and a swell cast.

The little love-starved dancer of the tenements which Miss Carroll brings to you on the screen is real. She is the girl you have rubbed elbows with on the subway, or snapped at in bargain basements or seen eating hot dogs with a relish at Coney Island. One of millions scattered through the greater cities of the nation who love just as strongly as earnestly as anybody else.

Her story is the story of "Child of Manhattan." How, for the first time in her life love comes to her in the person of handsome John Boles a man who belongs to an entirely different world. He, a worldly, polished gentleman, falls sincerely in love with a girl whose entire life has been confined to the four walls of a dingy back apartment.

How this love develops, is consummated in marriage and how the two people battle against tremendous odds, against forces over which they have no control to keep the marriage intact provides a dramatic climax. There are surprises and twists galore and with unerring hands Director Eddie Buzzell has made the best of his many opportunities.

"SLEEPING CAR" AT ROXY

A delightful romance of a merry young widow and a sleeping car attendant is unfolded in the "Sleeping Car" which will be screened at the Roxy Cinema, New Queen Road from Saturday.

It is a gay comedy with many piquant situations which evolve naturally from the various incidents of the plot. What lends special distinction to the piture is the combination of two foremost stars, Ivor Novello and Madeleine Carroll, who receive splendid support from a story cast including Laddie Cliff and Kay Hammond. But there are a good many other features which lift the picture above the average. In the story, with a grinding of brakes the Trans-Continental came to a hall at the Gare St. Lazare Gaston, the Sleeping Car attendant, dropped lightly on to the lines on the opposite side of the platform, quickly removed his uniform jacket and peaked cap, donned the muftl passed to him by his fellow attendant, Pierre, then raced to a house adjacent to the station, where dwelt his sweetheart, Simone.

The Trans-Continental only stopped for a quarter of an hour, so that Gaston's love making had to be extremely brief. Whilst Gaston ate a hasty meal in Simone's flat, he resisted her invitation to accompany her to the theatre. Further incidents evolve the story to a dramatic and surprising climax.

3RD WEEK OF "RAJRANI MIRA"

New Theatre's Hindi talkie "Rajrani Mira" featuring Mrs. Durga Khote in the starring role has been drawing packed houses at she West End Cinema for she last fortnight, and will be continued for a further run. Enough has been written about the merits of the combines entertainment with a high level of artistic merits.

"Anna from the Soviet," they call her at the Goldwyn studios, where she is a favourite.

Pola Negri Recalls Her Romance With King Of Comedians

Their Frequent Quarrels And Charlie's "Persistent Meanness" And Shaw's Joke On Their Baby-to-be

Though the richest star of filmdom, Charlie Chaplin is persistently mean!

That is the remark made by Pola Negri in the course of a reminiscence of her romance with the King of Comedians.

"It was comedy" says Pola Negri in describing her brief engagement to Charlie, "it was tragedy it was tears, it was laughter. There were moments of rare beauty, moments of understanding, and there were moments of sheer absurdity. Through it all ran that thread of humor."

"I think" says the star, "that the real tragedy of Charlie's life lies in the fact that it is impossible for anyone to take him seriously. Fate has cast him for the role of a comedian, and a comedian he remains. Even in his most serious moments there is something about him that is irresistibly allied to laughter."

MEANNESS

Speaking of their frequent quarrels, that finally ended in a complete break, she says:

"One of the worst sources of quarrelling between us was Charlie's persistent meanness. Perhaps it was a relic of his former days of poverty, since he was then one of the richest men in America and had no need to think of money. Yet he could not bring himself to spend it. He paid for everything in cheques, and never carried any money in his pocket."

LOVE FOR CHILDREN

Another trait of Charlie was his overwhelming love for children.

"He looked forward to our marriage quite as much for the sake of the children it would give him as for love of me. He was so certain, he said, that our children would be exceptional. Once I told Bernard Shaw of this and he said that it made him recall Isadora Duncan and her passionate longing for motherhood. He told me that on one occasion she had written to him saying:

"'Let us at all cost have a child together. Can you not imagine what a child of ours would be, a child endowed with the brains of Bernard Shaw and the beauty of body of Isadora Duncan?"

In reply he wrote, 'Yes but what if our child should be endowed with the brain of Isadora Duncan and the body of Bernard Shaw?

"In telling me the story, Bernard Shaw said: 'The argument might apply equally to you and Charlie Chaplin, you know. I did not know whether to feel flattered or not."

ERNEST TRUEX and UNA MERKEL in "WHISTLING IN THE DARK" commencing at Capital Theatre to-day.

TRADITION UPSET

The outcome of Carl Laemmle's experiment in setting out to exploit two individual head-line fun-makers also upsets the tradition that film comedy teams are born and not made.

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, both of whom had achieved nothing up till then, came together more or less accidentally when they were cast in "Duck Soup." (The Marx Brothers have, by the way, got the same title for their new outburst.)

Wheeler and Woolsey, one of the most successful comedy teams evolved since talkies were also "paired up" by chance when the late Flo Ziegfeld engaged them for the Broadway version of "Rio Rita". They were signed up for the film version, and their success established them as a film team.

Charles Ruggles and Mary Boland, who are certain to be seen together again after "Mama Loves Papa" would probably never have been heard of as a comedy combination if Paramount had not, as an ordinary casting arrangement, assigned Miss Boland to a role in "If I had a Million."

Peggy Hopkins Joyce has abandoned her part in "Broadway Through a Keyhole," owing, it is reported, to her objections to appearing as a gold-digger.

He will appear with Claudette Colbert in "Torch Singer," with W. C. Fields and Alison Skipworth in "Tillie and Gus" and with Richard Alen and Frances Fuller in "Captain Jericho."

NEW HORRORS

One of Hollywood's latest efforts to curdle our blood is "The Mystery of the Wax Museum," a Warner picture directed by Michael Curtiz, to be seen at the cinemas next week. The "Monster" of the story, played by Lionel Atwill, is a crazy waxworks proprietor who conceives the horrible idea of replacing his models with human bodies encased in wax. Our pictures reflect the highlights of this lurid screen shocker.

NEW SERIAL QUEEN

Evalyn Knapp is to be Pearl White's successor in the new "Perils of Pauline."

Miss Knapp, who is one of the most versatile of Hollywood's ingenues and a Wampas Baby star for 1932, has finally been selected for the role.

Evalyn, like Bette Davis, is something of a portege of Mr. George Arliss. He chose her for the feminine lead in "The Millionaire," and she learned about acting from him again as his ingenue in "A Successful Calamity."

THE HUSBAND PAYS

Director Monta Bell, who used to be a newspaper man himself, intends to be careful the next time he gives an interview to a newspaper writer. The last one cost him dol. 500!

He had discussed Benita Hume's role in Jesse L. Lasky's "The Worst Woman in Paris" and remarked that a wife or mistress, in order to be respected, must keep a man "broke" buying expensive clothes.

Mrs. Bell read the interview, ordered a fur coat, and presented the bill to her "lord and master"!

Robinson's leading lady in Warner's "Dark Hazard," a story of dog racing.—Constance Bennett has chosen Robert Montgomery to be her leading man in "Moulin Rouge."

Brunette Voice By Preference

Do you have a brunette voice?

If you do, you'll get big in the movies. So, at least, Franklin Hansen, chief of the Paramount sound recording department, told blonde-haired Peggy Hopkins Joyce during the filming of "International House."

Most film stars regardless of their coloring, Hansen told her, have brunette voices. "The voice of the average blonde has a higher frequency of vibration than that of the brunette, just as a tenor voice is shriller than a baritone. Recent perfections in sound recording apparatus have made this difference more apparent than ever before.

"So now we believe we have found the reason why several of the most gorgeous blonde stars of five or six years ago have made such poor showings in talking pictures. Their voices were too much like their hair. On the other hand, a lot of blondes with brunette voices have succeeded—Marlene Dietrich, Greta Garbo, Ann Harding and others of their type. Recall the deep, rich quality of their voices and you'll see what I mean."

"Yes," said Peggy. "But how about me?"

"Your voice is a sunburned brunette," said Hansen. 'You're O. K."

Then, he added, there's the case of Gracie Allen, who plays with Peggy in "International House." Gracie is a brunette with a blonde voice. That's what makes her funny.

WHEN NOVARRO "DOUBLED"

Some stars have found fame by "doubling" for others. Ramon Novarro made his first film, "Omar Khayyam," in 1921. Extra work followed, and "doubling" for Valentino. At last he got his big opportunity in "The Prisoner of Zenda" in 1923. Loretta Young made her debut as a "double" for her sister, Polly Ann Young. Later she was given a small part in "Naughy but Nice," starring Colleen Moore.

Katharine Hepburn and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. The co-stars of "Morning Glory" caught in an off-the-set interlude. Katharine is helping Doug. Jr. to correct a manuscript sheet of the novel he is writing. Their friendship off the screen has given rise to romance rumours.

HOSPITAL FOR ANIMALS IN POONA

Governor Performs Opening Of Institution Raised By Private Support

His Excellency the Governor speaking at the opening of the Hospital of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Poona, on Friday said:—

"I thank you very much for having extended to me the invitation to perform this interesting ceremony. I have accepted with sincere pleasure, for I am fully aware of the great importance of the work which your Society is doing. Indeed, I think everybody must be appreciative of the necessity for work in India for the prevention of cruelty to animals. I am very glad to see from your speech, and from the report of the Society, that you recognise so fully that if any success is to be achieved in mitigating the cruelty that animals have so frequently to suffer it must be done by providing adequate facilities to the owners of such animals who are generally among the poorest classes of the people.

SOCIETY'S GOOD WORK.

Cruelty to animals is seldom, if ever, perpetrated deliberately. It is due sometimes to thoughtlessness, and more often to sheer poverty and inability to provide the animals with the care and treatment that is their due. I entirely agree with you, Sir, therefore, that if your Society is to achieve any adequate measure of success it must work chiefly by providing the owners of animals with facilities to give them proper treatment. This is, as you say, largely a matter of funds, and I can well realise that in these hard times these are rather difficult to come by. I think, however, the measure of progress that you have already achieved since the Society was started seven years ago affords adequate ground for satisfaction, tempered perhaps by a hope that if times improve progress may be continued soon at an accelerated rate.

KHAN BAHADUR METHA THANKED.

I have the greatest pleasure in commending your cause to the generous-minded and charita disposed citizens of Poona, and I join with you in expressing our best thanks to Khan Bahadur Mehta for his very generous support of your Society from the outset, culminating, as it has done, in a second splendid donation of Rs. 5,000. I am very glad also to have the privilege of meeting the Patrons of your Society, and I congratulate them on the support that they have extended to a very worthy cause. I hope that the provision of this building, which will serve at once as a veterinary hospital of your own and also office accommodation for your staff, will prove a landmark in the progress of your Society, and, in addition to fulfilling the needs for which it was designed, will serve to attract attention to the work you are doing and thus bring in further support both financial and otherwise.

EFFORTS APPRECIATED.

My Government have much, as you know, against their will, been compelled to reduce their expenditure on veterinary services owing to the prevailing financial difficulty. We have every hope that this restrictive policy may only prove temporary, but it has long been realised that Government activity in this direction can only touch the fringe of the need which exists, and that if India is to progress to the extent she should do in this matter if she is to keep pace with other advanced countries, much must be left to private support. You will realise, therefore, how much my Government appreciate the efforts of Societies, such as, yours, and what useful service they are doing to the general cause of Indian progress. I am proud to be associated as chief Patron with your work, and I thank you once more for so kindly inviting me to be present to-day and to associate myself with this striking step forward in the progress of your work.

I wish the Society and this enterprise every possible success and usefulness, and will now with your concurrence formally declare the hospital open.

FEISAL'S DEATH WORRIES BRITISH DIPLOMATS

Leanings Of Iraq's New Ruler Unknown: His Ministers Not Wholly Pro-British

From the viewpoint of British policy in the Near East, King Feisal's death comes at a very inconvenient time, observes the London correspondent of the Chicago Daily Tribune", writing in mail week.

The hand-picked Arabian ruler, who had been discarded by the French in Syria, never completely orientated his Government toward the British, although until last October Irak affairs were administered under the supervision of the British Colonial Office. As long as Irak remained a British mandate he was careful to keep pro-Turkish feeling in the Cabinet balanced by equal pro-English strength.

For years he did an adroit job. Last fall the British mandate expired and under London's sponsorship Irak was admitted to full membership in the League of Nations. Within 10 months Irak soldiers were charged with butchering several hundred Christian Assyrians, who had also been allies of Britain against the Ottoman Empire and who had been guaranteed sanctuary after the War.

The killings occurred within a few days of Feisal's state visit to London, during which he was the guest of King George and Queen Mary at Buckingham Palace.

TOLD TO REMAIN IN BAGHDAD

Feisal, whose health was really bad and who was squeamish over punishing his Muslim supporters, announced that he was returning to Switzerland for a cure. He was virtually ordered to remain in Baghdad until the British Ambassador, Sir Francis Humphreys, could return to his post. Feisal waited, but at the first opportunity he left by airplane. The British Government knew that he was ill, but nobody in Whitehall thought he was near death.

Now Feisal's 21 year old son, the Emir Ghazi, is proclaimed King, with a salute of 101 guns, in the middle of hostile ministers at Baghdad. Of these undoubtedly the strongest is General Yassin Pasha, Minister of Finance, Yassin refused to become a member of Feisal's Government until the Anglo-Irak treaty was signed three years ago. He is an ardent Turkophile and an opponent of everything European.

Ramon Grau San Martin, President of Cuba.

NEW KING'S LEANINGS.

Whether the new boy ruler will lean toward him or Prime Minister Rashic Ali Beg, who is a friend of Britain, cannot be determined. It will be Humphreys' job to try and make the British influence paramount.

Irak's importance to the British is indicated by the fact that the diplomatic post holds ambassadorial rank. Besides Mosul oil which is essential to the British Navy, Iraq holds a strategic point on the air route to India. The problem creates a double-faced obligation in Irak through the promises to the Assyrians and the necessity of upholding the country which is a British protege. The test of British diplomacy on this question will come September 22 when the Assyrian minority makes a protest to the League.

One important point about the new King is that he was educated at Harrow.

Some Insurance Suggestions.

1. If you own a House insure it against Fire.

2. If you own a factory insure it against Fire and all Riot Risks

3. If you own a Car see that you protect yourself against heavy damages by third parties. (Recently an Insured got judgment against him for payment of £13,000 to the Heirs of a deceased man who was run over and killed).

4. If you are a Merchant sending goods abroad from India, protect yourself with suitable Marine Covers.

5. If you have workmen engaged under you, protect yourself with a Workmen's Compensation Cover.

GOVERNOR ON TRUE AIMS OF CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES

Loans Should Be Given For Proper Objects Only And Should Not Be Misused, He Says, In Message To Sind Co-Op Conference

The Governor of Bombay sent a message to the Sind Co-operative Conference, which was read by the Chairman on Friday, in the Course of which he said:—

"I regret that owing to my other engagements it is not possible for me to inaugurate this Conference, much as I would have desired to do so. A conference was held in Poona in June last to elicit public opinion on the recommendations of the Reorganisation Committee relating to the Co-operative Movement in this Presidency. It was at that time decided that in ordered to save inconvenience to representatives of the co-operative movement from Sind asd also as the problems affecting the movement in Sind are somewhat different, a separate conference with the same object should be held in Sind. This conference is a clear indication of the policy followed by me and my Government of close co-operation with non-official workers in all matters relating to the Co-operative Movement.

RECOVERY OF DUES.

"Gentlemen, you may remember that, when I inaugurated the proceedings of the seventeenth Provincial Co-operative Conference last year, I laid stress on the necessity of development of the primary societies on sound co-operative lines. This would obviate the necessity of recovery of the dues of co-operative societies by an outside agency on a large scale, and dues would be recovered normally through effective mutual control of the members themselves. The personal credit of the honest, thrifty and punctual member would form the best security for the loans. Once again I would strongly advise all co-operative societies to steer clear of the temptation to advance loans against the tangible security of the borrower and to avoid converting the societies into mere agricultural banks

VILLAGE CITIZENSHIP

"If you will excuse me, Gentlemen, I should like to digress for a moment at this point from strictly co-operative questions to say a few words on an aspect of the co-operative movement to which I attach very great importance: I mean village citizenship and the ability to make the best of village life. The villagers, however are and must remain for as far ahead as we can see in an agricultural country like India, the basis on which the success of any constitutional developments must depend Unless and until the villagers take an intelligent interest in the affairs of the country any constitution based on democratic principles must fail. Nor do I think there can be any training in citizenship better than the complete inculcation of true co-operative principles.

TRAINING TO MEMBERS.

To realise all these aims it is necessary that our efforts should be concentrated on giving organised and continuous training to the members of societies regarding the aims and ideals of co-operation and the best means of realising them. A society should be regarded as a combined effort of individuals to develop on moral and material lines, with emphasis on the moral aspect. This postulates that each member should know the principles of co-operation and that new members should be carefully selected for their honesty and thrift, and that loans should be given for proper objects only and should not be misused by the borrowers. The responsibilities of sureties should be fully and clearly explained to them, and none persuaded to stand as surety by misrepresentation or inducement. In case of default the demand should be instant. The responsibility of all members of the society in case of default by one should be properly explained and all members trained to take an intelligent interest in the working of the society. Rigorous insistence should be placed on thrift and loans should be advanced only for objects which are absolutely necessary. If these conditions are observed, there will be adequate control from within, increasing efficiency of office-bearers and the members will form a close community, promoting thrift and honesty and securing "better busines, better farming and better living."

The outstanding problem at the moment is the question of arrears. It is going to be extremely difficult to recover lost ground and in the process I fear that some societies will have to be liquidated, that in some cases money will be lost, and that some people must inevitably suffer for the mistakes of the past.

POSITION OF CENTRAL BANKS

"The crisis that has arisen has placed the Central Banks in a difficult position We all know how much the movement owes to the pioneers who established these banks and built up their credit over a long period of time. The position now is that much of their working capital has been immobilished. Only a small portion of that capital is held by them on a permanent or long term basis, and for the remainder they are under an obligation to meet the demands of their depositors and of the public for repayment on due dates. It is evident that unless their investments in primary societies can be made more liquid there is danger ahead.

CONTROL FOR VILLAGERS.

And this is a position which Government cannot contemplate with equanimity. It is for you, Gentlemen, to consider the position and to suggest the remedy, and I shall await with keen interest your considered advice as to the policy that should be adopted. But I will take the opportunity of making one remark. It is not by removing the ultimate responsibility for granting and recovering loans from the village where it now is and where it should remain to any outside agency, whether Government or a financing institution that salvation can be found Special measures may be temporarily justified by a special emergency. But the permanent solution must, I am sure, be one that leaves the control of advances and the responsibility for recovery in the hands of the villagers themselves, who alone can estimate the credit worthiness of their fellow members and bring moral and social pressure to bear on them to make them discharge their obligations.

"ASSIST GOVERNMENT."

"It will be your task, Gentlemen to assis; Government in ascertaining how for the movement in its present form has strayed from the true principles of co-operation, and if necessary, to suggest how improvements can be effected. The movement shows certain signs of deterioration, and this is causing anxiety to all concerned. We are in the midst of an economic depression unprecedented for its range and degree, and this has brought to light several defects in the movement formerly unsuspected. While the societies have, on the whole, maintained their credit signifying the confidence that the public repose in them they have not been able to retain in all cases the loyalty of the members. I trust that in all your discussions your chief interest will be the well-being of the primary societies, which is the true foundation for the success of the movement."

Geneva.—Germany's reply to the latest British, French and Italian Disarmament proposals is understood to maintain claims for equal right, The reply accepts control, but considers four years' probation period demanded by the French too long. Contrary to rumours the Disarmament Bureau is pretty certain to meet on Monday.

Mrs. Besant Provides Lifetime Gratuety To Servants In Her Will

LONDON, Oct. 6.

Provision for servants and poor students is expected to absorb practically the whole of the residue of the estate of Anne Besant after major bequests such as the publishing business at Adyar are dealt with. The will, which is intimately personal laying down loving wishes of that kindly woman provides that all her servants shall be paid for the remaisder of their lives the wages they were receiving when Mrs Besant died. Provision is also made for the completion of education of poor Indian students whom she was helping. The publishing business at Adyar goes to the Theosophical Society and the publishing business in London to her son.

Major Graham Pole, the English executor, interviewed by Reuter expressed an opinion that the estate was in no way large and added it was impossible at present to estimate the amount as her property was scattered all over world including India, California and Australia but Mrs. Besant never tried to save money. She preferred to use it.

The Indian executor is her personal secretary. N. Sri Ram. Krishnamurti is not mentioned in the will.

Major Graham Pole explained that although Mrs Besant cared for Krishnamurti in his young days she never supported him. Neither of them would have dreamed of it, be added.—Reuter.

French Aviators Reach Karachi After Adventurous Flight From North Africa

KARACHI, Oct 6

The two French aviators Assolant and Rene Lefevre who hopped off from Oran (Algiers, North Africa) at six Greenwich time on Wednesday morning, in their monoplane for Rangoon non-stop in an attempt to beat the existing long-distance record, landed at Karachi at 12-10 a.m, Indian Standard Time.

Interviewed by the Associated Press, they said that the larger consumption of petrol owing to atmospheric conditions especially over the Mediterranean section, induced them to consider that they would not have enough petrol to break the record.

So they preferred to land at Karachi exactly to schedule time having covered 6,600 kilometres in 36 hours nonstop flight.

They will return to Algiers tomorrow and [illegible] to reattempt the flight next full moon day.—A. P.

DEATH OR GLORY HITS IN SIND PENTANGULAR

Weighed Down With Responsibility Of Skipper, Naumal Contributes Valuable Innings Against Parsis In Classic & Restrained Style

KARACHI, Oct. 6.

The final in the Sind Cricket Pentangular matches between Hindus and Parsis, started to-day in an ideal weather before a record attendance. The Parsis winning the toss, elected to bat facing a series of disasters, all their star-batsmen collapsing before a hundred minutes' play. The Hindu fielding was flawless and the Parsis were trapped in leg where the fielding was of high order.

A. Irani and P.R. Kavasji opened the Parsi innings to the attack of Dowlatram and Gopaldas. Irani gave a chance at the outset, but the catch was missed. Soon after Kavasji was bagged in the slips being smartly held by Odhavji off Dowlatram at 11-15 (8|1-4). Mawalwalla, who was associated with Irani, was trapped in the slips, Kalyan effecting a difficult catch (13|2|3).

M.J. Mobed opened shakily, hooking Dowlatram to short-leg. Shankerdas missed the chance of stumping Mobed when the latter inadvertently left the crease. Mobed, who seemed to have a charmed life was held by Kalyan in the slips (47|3|14).

Minwalla, the Parsi Skipper, who filled the vacancy returned scoreless being held by Naumal for the second ball he played (47|4|0).

At 12-20 Palsetia telegraphed 50 but soon after Irani was caught by Naumal at short-leg (50|5-21). The outgoing batsman played a confident game at a time of crisis. S.K. Irani came next and along with Palsetia carried the score to 60, but immediately after a series of disasters overtook the Parsi batsmen. Palsetia was held by Lekhraj down in the slips (60|6|9). S.K. Irani in trying to meet Dowlat was stumped by Shankerdas (60|7|2).

D.J. Mobed joined Karanjia, but this partnership was short-lived, Kalyan shattering Karanjia's wicket (69|8|5). The ninth wicket partnership was responsible for the quick scoring of runs. Mobed carrying the score to the century at 1 p.m. At the time of lunch, the score stood at 106 runs with D.J. Mobed and N.S. Mobed batting.

Dowlatram bowled with remarkable skill, being responsible for five wickets.

PLAY AFTER LUNCH.

The complexion of the game did not change after resumption of play after lunch. For the first ball of Dowlatram D.J. Mobed was held in the slips (106|9|30). The outgoing batsman played a confident cricket, contributing his invaluable 30 runs. The last wicket partnership was dislodged at 3 p.m| when Mody slided into the hands of Gopaldas.

The last pair hit out merrily carrying the score to 129.

HINDU INNINGS.

The Hindus started their innings at 3-5 p.m. in glorious style, Gangaram and Jagannath facing Palsetia and S.K. Irani. Jagannath, who got an early lease of life being missed in the slips, collared the Parsi bowling, by playing an attractive cricket. The opening pair partnership was dislodged at 3-50, when Palsetia shattered Gangaram's wicket (29-1|10). Duhilanomal took his place on the crease but was bowled soon after (21|2|1).

Naumal entered amidst applause and after settling down opened his shoulders carrying the score to 75 when the tea-interval was called. The players soon passed their nervous nineties, every run got being cheered.

Jagannath flogged the changed bowling mercilessly reaching his individual half-century. The partnership was broken after the century was hoisted, Jagannath being caught and bowled by Mody (105|3|52). Jagannath stayed at the crease for 2 hours and 15 minutes, and he played a free game.

Gopaldas was associated with Naumal when the latter was bowled by Irani (105|4|30). Under the burden of responsibility the Skipper Naumal played a restrained but classic innings, reaching the ropes thrice.

SPELL OF RUN-GETTING.

A spell of run-getting ensued, when Dowlatram came in, both the players indulged in death-or-glory hitting. The repeated change in bowling held no terror for the batsmen.

At 6-15 when Mody sent one of his 'expresses,' Dowlatram retired hurt (166|5|23). Raghumal who came in started shakily. He was dismissed without breaking his duck being caught by S.K. Irani off Palsetia (167-5-0). Shankerdas filled the vacancy, the score standing at 167 at the close of the play.

Renewing Complexions By Absorption

If your complexion is marred with sallowness, moth patches, pimples or freckles, it is useless to potter with powders and paints, lotions, creams and things, in an effort to get rid of the trouble. Unless you have some ability as an artist, you will mar your appearance still more.

The new and rational way is to take off the complexion itself, with all its offensive marks. Just get some pure mercolized wax at the chemist's, and use at night the same as cold cream. Remove next morning with water and soap, following with dash of cold water. The mercolized wax absorbs the half-dead scarf skin in flaky particles, so gradually no one guesses you are treating your face—unless it be by the result, which is truly wonderful. There is nothing like it for bestowing a natural healthy and beautiful complexion.

BRIGHT CRICKET IN BOMBAY

Vajifdar And D'Avoine Hit Out Against Rajputana

The Rajputana Cricket Club showed improvement against Dr. Kanga's XI on Thursday when they played their last fixture in Bombay. The Parsi Gymkhana pitch was in excellent condition and it assisted the bowlers a great deal. The visitors bowling and fielding, were good, but their batting is still weak in comparison.

Rajputana scored 103 in their first venture to which Dr. Kanga's XI replied with 190 for 8 wickets.

H. J. Vajifdar and P. A. D'Avoine made a good stand, the latter being run out when well set. Vajifdar put up 67 runs before succumbing to a catch by Razdan off Attiq Hussain. D'Avoine exploited the square cut and hit to leg often. He hit four boundaries past the bowler before being run out when he had scored 44. The match will be resumed at 11-30 a.m. on Friday.

STATE OF TENSION EXISTS THROUGHOUT SPAIN

People Await Another Election To End Republican —Socialist Alliance

MADRID, Oct. 6.

While President Alkala Zamora is still fighting for the application of the newly evolved constitution, the tension in the republic's first severe political crisis is reflected in the great nervousness throughout Spain.

The people are grimly awaiting another election in order to give their verdict on the much vilified Republican Socialist alliance.

There is evidence of disquiet in Catalonia where last night a "State of Prevention" as preliminary to a State of Siege was declared as a precautionary measure in view of the Strike of Electric and Gas workers.

The President is in a dilemma with the Socialists who have renounced the Republicans, and are demanding a revolution rather than the continuance of the Fascist-like Government, while the Conservative right-wing backed by the weight of public opinion calls for the dissolution of the Cortes, which as a constituent body is without legal limit to its life.

Meanwhile the Lerroux Government functions temporarily.—Reuter's Special.

RUBBER RESTRICTION MOVE

Dutch Decision Expected Shortly

LONDON, Oct. 5.

Despite the difficulties still to be overcome, a decided move forward towards rubber restriction appears to have begun.

Well-informed reports from the Hague forecast that the early meeting in Batavia of the conference of Government Commissioners for native rubber districts in the Dutch Indies will go far in determining the Dutch attitude.

Despite the suggestion from Dutch sources that restriction will not be possible before next spring, the belief seems to be gaining ground in London that the Dutch representatives will be here within a fortnight, and the end of the year may see the announcement of a definite decision.—Reuter's Special.

AWAKENING AMONG MARWARI WOMEN

Conference To Be Held In Calcutta

(From A Correspondent.)
CALCUTTA, Oct. 5.

Marwari women have at last responded to the clarion call of the age for woman reform. Signs of awakening seem visible by the decision of holding an "All-India Marwari Women Conference" in Calcutta, on the 29th inst. Shrimati Jankibai Jee Bajaj (wife of Seth Jamnalal Bajaj) will preside over the deliberations.

A very strong Reception Committee is formed. Prominent and influential Marwari women like Mrs. Birla, Mrs. Khaitan, Mrs. Kanoria Mrs. Murarka etc., have joined the Reception Committee. Sub-committees have been formed and they are working enthusiastically.

An interesting programme is fixed. A social drama depicting the social evils prevalent in the society will be staged by the girls. Physical feats by girls, lectures and essays on various topics regarding women reform will form the main function.

"I DRIVE A HUPMOBILE"

Why did I choose the "Silver Anniversary" Hupmobile? I'll tell you. I like style. Seven times Hupmobile won first award in European style competitions with the highest priced cars.

But I also wanted a car conservatively priced. In Hupmobile I find every sound mechanical feature of 1933, many of them in Hupmobile alone. Yet the price is amazingly low for such quality.

That is not all. I want a car that holds down fuel, oil and repair costs. Comparative tests drew me to Hupmobile.

I look ahead when I buy. I want a car that will look good years from now, that will perform satisfactorily after it has travelled many thousands of miles. Again, Hupmobile is best, if I know anything about car construction.

And when I drove my Hupmobile, testing it on all kinds of roads, its unsurpassed riding comfort proves that I made the wisest choice.

VAN DER LUBBE'S DOUBLE

Torgler Admits Resemblance Of Student Employed By Him

LEIPZIG, Oct. 5.

A suggestion that Van der Lubbe might have a double in the student employed in Torgler's office in the Reichstag was mentioned on the resumption of Torgler's examination in the fire trial.

Torgler stated that the student resembled Van Der Lubbe though he was shorter.

Torgler stressed his indignation when an official communique alleged that he and Koenen were involved with Van der Lubbe, both agreeing in describing this as an attempt of the Nazis to make propaganda for the forthcoming election.

TORGLER'S EVIDENCE.

Torgler stated that on the night of the fire he left the Reichstag with Fraulein Rehne, Secretary to the Communist Party, and Koenen, another Communist. During their walk along the Spree Rehne left them, but they were joined by a Communist journalist and the three entered a restaurant, and had a substantial meal in the course of which a waiter exclaimed: "The Reichstag is on fire." "Nonsense," said Torgler.

Torgler declared this was the first he heard of the outbreak. He took a tram to Tiergarten and joined the crowd watching the blaze.

After assuring himself that the Communist Party room was not ablaze, he returned to the restaurant, where he remained until mid-night.—Reuter's Special.

BOMBAY CHRONICLE

WORK WITHIN CONGRESS

The Conference of Maharashtra leaders and workers, held at Pen, a few days ago, is one more sign of the way the political wind is blowing. It cannot be dismissed as being packed; for it was a fairly representative one, including on the one hand Congressmen who have taken an active part in the Civil Disobedience movement and on the other, those who thought it necessary to thank the District Magistrate of Colaba publicly for letting them discuss the situation freely and unmolested.

The very fact, that the main resolution urging unconditional withdrawal of Civil Disobedience was passed by a small majority of 53 votes against 44, shows that the Conference was not, by any means, packed with Moderates and Responsivists. Two or three years ago, or even last year, no one would have ventured to move such a resolution at any open conference. That it should now be passed, though by a small majority, is evidence of a change, which it would be most unwise to ignore.

PRESENT NEED.

The speakers on the resolution made it clear that none proposed to surrender the right to resort to Civil Disobedience in appropriate circumstances. The effective use of Civil Disobedience requires certain favourable conditions, which do not exist at present. To encourage individual resistance in such circumstances is certainly not the right means to revive the conditions favourable for a mass movement, whatever form it takes.

Whatever may be the programme of action most suitable under other conditions, it is undeniable that the foremost present need is to rouse and organise the masses and to destroy all those communal and other barriers that hinder such organisation. And the organisation should be on the basis of self-reliance and should enable the people to bring the requisite pressure to bear on Government.

FAILED TO GIVE LEAD.

In this respect the Pen Conference has failed to give any lead worth mentioning. We also doubt whether the larger conference proposed to be convened in Bombay at the end of this month will do any better. Many of the promoters of these conferences think too much of Council entry and subordinate to it the more fruitful work that needs to be done outside the Councils. The country should beware of those who mislead the electorates into the belief that mere speeches in the Councils are the most important means of winning Swaraj. We have greater hopes from the Congress leaders of the U.P. who have good experience of rural organisation and are known to have devised an effective programme for mass organisation.

CONGRESS CONTROL.

We still do not see, however, why a meeting of the All-India Congress Committee should not be convened by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, the Congress Secretary, to consider the immediate programme and other relevant questions. The A. I. C.C. has not been declared unlawful and is expected to meet from time to time even in the absence of a requisition. It is true that the politically awakened people will proceed to organise themselves with or without Congress guidance, but it is infinitely more desirable that they should continue to work under the auspices and close guidance of the Congress.

Drive Against Illiteracy

The annual Conference of the Bombay Women's Committee on Educational and Social Reform, which met on Thursday, deplored the appalling illiteracy among Indian women, for in a population of 352 millions, only four millions are literate. That is a state of things which is as discreditable to Indians as to the Government. If the Government have done very little for male education, they have done even less for females, and we do not expect any immediate improvement from that quarter. Mrs. Talyarkhan rightly emphasised the necessity of education above everything, and this work cannot be done better than by women themselves. For this the women of Bombay, to whatever association or political party they may belong, should co-operate with each other and make greater effort than has been the case hitherto. As the President said, they must not be content with mere resolutions, but must work assiduously all the year round.

It is a great pity, the Conference regretted that the Sarda Act is being treated more or less as a dead letter, and the authorities are winking at the infractions. We agree that child-marriages are the greatest obstacle in the path of education. As far as Indians are concerned they have done their duty, and it is for the bureaucracy to put the law into motion. Here again educated women can do a great deal for their ignorant sisters. But for that purpose they will have to organise themselves and continuously agitate. They have got their franchise, but they have failed to make a judicious use of it. It is only through their votes that women can make their influence felt on the Legislature.

The resolutions passed by the Conference are commendable, but unless they are implemented by vigorous agitation and action they will be of very little use. As far as the Government are concerned it is useless to appeal to them to spend more money on education, or to express our indignation at the amount of illiteracy prevailing in India. The Government know this as well as the women themselves. If the women will organise themselves and help their less fortunate sisters, we are sure they will be able to achieve wonders. There is no use in depending on the Government, for their past experience must have taught them that the Government have got neither money nor the will for the purpose. In spite of Education being a transferred subject. We hope other women's organisations in the City will unite to make a vigorous drive against illiteracy and all those degrading conditions among women which have done great harm, not only to them, but to the whole country.

Progress Of Industry In Bombay

The Annual Report of the Department of Industries, Bombay, shows that, despite the great economic depression in the country, a number of new industries were started during the year 1932-33, though the Cotton Mill Industry was under a cloud. It is very regrettable that even with a protection of 75 per cent. the Indian Mill Industry should be languishing almost to extinction, as a result of which financial Bombay is passing through a grave crisis. Owing to the slump in prices, the purchasing power of the agriculturists was very low during the year, and this had a powerful reaction on the mill industry itself. We emphasise this to point out that Mr. Mody and his friends cannot afford to neglect the cotton-grower and his economic well-being in their anxiety to enrich themselves and their newly-made friends in Lancashire, who are now in India on an expedition for the protection of their own interests.

A number of new industries were started in the Presidency during the year, and we have no doubt, with adequate encouragement it will be quite possible to start many more. At present dumping on an extensive scale is going on both from Germany and Japan, but it ought not to be impossible for small capitalists to invest more money in small useful industries and hold their own. The Report states that about eight new sugar factories were started in the Presidency, out of the 100 in process of erection throughout India. Great caution requires to be exercised in this direction, and too much optimism is likely to be ruinous to this newly established industry. There is already a talk of imposing an excise duty on sugar, and we shall not be surprised if Government proceed to do it in the next few years.

Both Soap and Cigarette Industries did well, and the imports of foreign cigarettes show a gradual decline in the Presidency. There is even a greater drop in the quantity of soap imported. All this is very encouraging. The spirit of Swadeshi has played a great part in the encouragement of the new ventures, even greater than Government protection. It is for the manufacturers to prove to the country that they deserved all the encouragement that can be given them by improving the quality of their goods, cheapening their prices at the same time. The Department of Industries requires all the help that the Government can give it, and we are glad that they have decided to retain it, despite the recommendations of the Thomas Committee. In one sense, however, the Thomas Committee was right, for unless ample funds are placed at the disposal of the Department, it is incapable of doing any good. We hope the Government will bear this in mind constantly.

Press Views

Organise Masses First

We appeal to Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, and those of his way of thinking, not to be impatient to seek imprisonment. Instead they should concentrate on evolving a new ideology for the people. They should give a fresh message to the masses—a message which may inspire confidence, and which should impel the masses to feel that the political struggle is theirs and not of any other class. What Congressmen should just now think of is the best means of infusing the masses with a new spirit of self-consciousness and self-importance a spirit which may put fresh life in them and prepare them to strive relentlessly and irresistably for Swaraj. Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru has a wonderful opportunity of bringing life into the deadened bows of the nation. We hope he will grasp it.—"National Call."

"A Communal Oligarchy"

It surely does not require any great subtlety to realize that unless the White Paper scheme is substantially modified in the light of responsible Indian opinion it will not only fail to give freedom and bread to all classes of people but will be of no use even as a factor for giving a living chance to every man and woman. Instead of giving a truly democratic constitution to the people the White Paper proposals will only help to establish a sort of communal oligarchy under the protection of British bayonets thus complicating the Indian problem even more than at present. A genuinely progressive policy of trust in India can alone save the situation.—"Advance."

Left In The Lurch

The Liberal leaders who have stood by the Government through thick and thin and have faced odium and calumny are left in the lurch by a policy of drift. The Joint Parliamentary Committee was the last straw on their back. There is no use entrusting them with the task of pulling Sir Samuel Hoare's chestnuts out of the fire. At the present moment, they are weary and disgusted. Sapru has gone back to his brief; it is the old old story of what happened when Montagu left the India Office. Lord Willingdon and his advisers can afford to go on without Gandhi, Mr. Patel and Pandit Jawaharlal; they cannot afford to keep Jayakars and Sastris sulking in the tent in discontent. The blown out policy of "rallying the moderates" may not succeed this time.—"Sind Observer."

Accept His Offer

Nearly three years have passed in the tortuous and wasteful endeavour to build the White Paper scheme, which has lost all its original glamour even for those who were once dazzled by it. Now Government have arrived at a stage when they will have, oblivious of the duty of prior conciliation, to dictate a constitution for India. This is a predicament Government ought to have avoided; because an imposed constitution cannot be the real solution of the Indian problem; it is probably the prelude to a muddle worse than what even the "dual policy" has been able to produce in India. There is an alternative to the White Paper imposition, just as there is one also to the "dual policy", and the search for the alternatives of both, should take us on the road that peace-makers travel.—"Hindustan Times."

BIRTH CONTROL IN INDIA

Legislation Necessary To Protect Clinical Practitioners

By MANEKLAL H. VAKIL, M.A., LL.B., Advocate.

The Rationalist Association, Bombay, organised a public meeting which was addressed by three leading Medical Practitioners with British qualifications, one Professor of Biology from a Government College and two prominent workers in the public life of Bombay. All these speakers were distinguished Indian Graduates of the Bombay University and the Hall was filled with educated men and women, young as well as old. The subject was discussed by every speaker in a scientific manner from various standpoints and there was a desire expressed at the end by several friends from the audience that a series of lectures should be organised for the public benefit by the Bombay Medical Council as well as the Rationalist Association.

For the first time in the history of this City three eminent Surgeons, Dr. Deshmikh, M.D., F.R.C.S., the Ex-Mayor of Bombay, Dr. Khanolkhar, the Dean of the Municipal College Hospital, and Dr. Erurkar, spoke from a public platform on this so-called delicate but most important subject to the future of the human race. Things are moving fast in Western countries and it is a happy omen that the Indian Medical Profession is not lagging behind in this sacred mission of serving humanity.

HANDICAP OF ILLITERACY

Propaganda for public health and eugenic breeding suffers from the handicap of mass illiteracy in this country in addition to ignorant and prudish notions of Municipal Councillors and Medical men with outworn ideas or moral considerations as they understand them to be. Unfortunately even the semi-educated men fail to realise that a correct knowledge will prevent a good deal of the present secret immorality and will raise the public morals to a higher level.

The Municipal Corporation of Bombay, as well as the Municipal Council of another large city, namely Ahmedabad, in this Presidency discussed very superficially permissive resolutions for Municipal Health Officers to give contraceptive advice to married women. The Bombay Municipality threw out the resolution by a small majority while the Ahmedabad resolution had to be withdrawn by the mover as it had no chance at all of being passed by that body.

ONLY PRACTICAL METHOD.

In the Annual Report on the Moral and Material Progress of India the Publicity Officer of the Government of India who wrote the Volume "India in 1930-31," writes that, "it appears to be the general opinion of Indian economists who discuss the population problem of this country that the only practical method of limiting population is by the introduction of artificial methods of Birth Control" (which should more accurately be called "The Scientific Methods of Control against undesired conception.") ..... "In India as elsewhere there has indeed recently been a marked increase in the demand among certain classes for scientific knowledge on the subject and the movement appears to be less hampered by misplaced prudery than in some countries which claim to be more civilised.

Not only is artificial control advocated by a large number of medical writers, but India can now boast of a neo-Malthusian

Frankly Speaking

A DOUGHTY FIGHTER

The country will be much relieved to learn that Mr. Vithalbhai Patel is now much better than he was a week ago. Though he is said to be not yet quite out of danger, we trust he has passed the crisis and will soon be restored to normal health.

Mr. Patel is a doughty political fighter and the country badly needs his services in the present crisis. He has always brought a refreshing measure of originality and independence to the discussion of policies and tactics, and he has never made a fetish of consistency in methods.

At a time when new programmes of action are being seriously discussed, his long and varied experience of political agitation, his robust common sense and an almost uncanny insight into the ways of men will be of the greatest value.

We trust he will soon be able to return to India and take his accustomed place in her service.

NO CLAIM

We are going to have a new type of diarchy under the White Paper, and the responsibility will again be divided. While the Police will be under the charge of the Minister, he will be unable to appoint the Inspector-General of Police, because he belongs to the Secretary of State's Service.

What will be the result of the dual control? While the Minister will be responsible for the policy of his department, the Inspector-General will be the chief, executive, and he may safely defy the wishes of his chief, for he will have ready access to the Governor, who is the god in the machine.

As it is, Indian Ministers are mere nonentities and most of them would not have been Ministers had they been anything else.

Sir Hari Singh Gour said that Indian opinion would be conciliated if the Governor-General were made the recruiting authority. The Governor-General has enough work to do without having this additional duty thrust on him and Sir Hari Singh Gour has no claim to speak for Indian opinion. He speaks for himself only.

CHECK FOR NAZIS

The action taken by the Czecho-Slovakian Government was long expected, for the Nazi movement has been making some headway there too, under the blatant propaganda directed from Germany.

The banning of the German National Socialist Party and its dissolution will be the first step in the progressive offensive against the Nazis.

A large number of Jews and Socialists who have fled from Germany have taken refuge in Prague, and they ought not to be allowed to fall victims to murderous Nazis who will stick at nothing.

The step ought to have been taken long ago, but it is better late than never. Perhaps, other countries will follow Austria and Czecho-Slovakia.

ARE THEY AFRAID?

We are amazed at the reasons given by the Ahmedabad Millowners' representative for deciding to non-co-operate with the Conciliation Board. The demand made by the Labour representative was perfectly legitimate, in that he wanted the basic figures on which to form his opinion.

It is easy enough to cut down wages, by 25 per cent by a simple flat, but it is difficult to prove the necessity for it. The Ahmedabad millowners have not done badly all these years, but they have never given a rise to their men voluntarily.

Even in the best of times the men had to go on strike for an increased wage. The present depression has come in very handy to the owners to press down the workers still more.

Unless the millowners supply all the required information, we must take it for granted that they are afraid of giving figures for fear of exposing themselves to public ridicule.

MUCH TALK, LITTLE WORK

The Bombay Municipal Corporation has been talking a great deal for years past about clearing the horrid slums in the City, but has not yet undertaken a clear-cut comprehensive scheme.

A resolution on the subject has now been referred, as usual, to a committee and one cannot know when, if at all, any real work will be undertaken.

There are yet some City Fathers who speak as if slum clearance were no part of their business. It is a cruel irony indeed that, while they vote away lakhs for adding to the amenities of the rich, they suddenly discover the dire need for economy when it comes to doing a little bit for the poor.

A little enlightened self-interest should teach them that the removal of the dirty slums will appreciably improve the health of the whole city.

COTTON SITUATION

From G. C. Joshi.

The extension of the Trade agreement by one month from 10th October to enable the Japanese Trade Delegation and the Indian Delegation to arrive at a workable solution of the difficulty now confronting the trade relationship between India and Japan has caused certain misgivings in the minds of persons interested in the welfare of Indian Cotton Industry.

There is reason to believe that both parties have now agreed to make certain sacrifices to meet other's view point. Now the import of Bengal Cotton has begun in up-country districts and the import of Scind American in Karachi would start by the third week of the month and the crops like Kandhesh, Oomra Moglai, etc., would also begin to move ere long, and pressure of Spot Cotton on Shipping Port markets would increase very considerably and Japan, being still out of market as a buyer, would cause prices to slump heavily as soon as the crop move freely, in the absence of any sustaining demand from Japan.

This slump will aggravate the agrarian situation which is already very acute in cotton growing areas with its resultant effect on Government Revenue, and the whole economic fabric of the province would receive a set back.

It is, therefore, necessary that pending the progress of negotiations, the Government of India, in consultation with the Japanese Delegation should soon announce, for the "ad-interim" period, a reduction of duty on Japanese piece-goods and the Japanese Delegation should call off boycott with immediate effect, so that the Cotton Crop when it begins to move heavily may find its natural outlet by sales to Japanese buyers and an equilibrium between supply and demand may be restored, thus preventing a likely slump in the price of Cotton during the period of negotiations, which may take more than a month to be finally settled.

The attention of all parties interested in the welfare of this basic industry of this province is earnestly drawn to the above situation and it is trusted that early steps will be taken to appraise the Government of India and our Delegation in Simla of the present position. If decision be deferred till two or three months, the Cotton Crop not finding any outlet, would continue to accumulate in ports with serious effect on price and the removal of boycott after say, three or four months, would not enable the cultivators to realise favourable prices for their crops, and it is the Japanese buyers only who will be able to buy cotton at the very low price which may then be ruling.

A concerted effort should therefore be made to get the boycott removed without further delay, by a reciprocal policy of reduction of import duties.

Poona Entertainment To Governor

From "A Resident."

I solicit the favour of being given sufficient space in your paper to bring to the notice of your readers—especially Poona Residents—a great anomaly in the constitution of "The Poona Residents' Entertainment Committee" formed to organise a Garden Party to bid farewell to His Excellency Sir Frederick and Lady Sykes, on the 13th instant.

Even a cursory glance over the list printed on the reverse of the invitation card will convince anybody of its incompleteness.

In my opinion it was the primary duty of some of those who have agreed to form the Committee to see that their fellow-citizens working for the sacred cause of social service and representing important institutions in Poona were not done the injustice of being left out. In truth it is most annoying that their co-operation and assistance are not sought. On enquiry I learn that many leading persons were not even approached in this behalf.

The fact is that a very irregular procedure has been adopted. No announcement was made and no public meeting was held to sound the general opinion of the Poona public. It would have been more fitting had the organizers brought all those concerned into common consultation. As the Party was to be given on behalf of the "Poona Residents" in all fairness to them it necessarily should have been a public entertainment.

One is happily reminded here of the huge party arranged on a grand scale in honour of the popular Sir Leslie Wilson, prior to his departure from India by the residents of the Suburban Area of Poona.

It is, therefore, my humble suggestion that the Secretary may be good enough to see his way, even if it be somewhat late, to make the Committee as representative as possible and to include in it at least the heads of the Poona Suburban Municipality, Kirkee Cantonment Board, Poona Cantonment Board, presentatives of a few important communities, leaders from mofussil and businessmen and heads of other institutions.

RESERVED FOR LADIES

From K. B. Nair

Mr. Hushedan Negarat's letter couched more or less in the vein of a feeler as to the necessity of any more retaining the conventional vogue of reserving special accommodation for ladies at public gatherings presupposes that Eve in India has acquired a status and occupies a place in society somewhat analogous to that of her European sister who during the past decade has gradually invaded the realms of sports, and professions hitherto considered to be exclusive masculine preserves.

No doubt India, too, in common with the rest of the world, has not failed to be affected by the repurcussions of the insurgent European Feminism an eloquent testimoney of which is well furnished by the amount of pressure we see our women are bringing to bear upon any national question be it political, social or economic. At the same time, critical observers cannot help noticing that despite their emergence into public life our ladies still seem to be obsessed by a kind of sex complex and are prone to be victims of overdone modesty so much so that that, when attending public functions they appear rather shy, affected and unobtrusive, and to them the very idea of imitating their European sister in casting off the shackles of sex barrier by mixing and co-mingling freely looks repugnant.

Hence it occurs to me that conveners of public meetings influenced by the above considerations do provide preferential seating accommodation for members of the fair sex.

The City Healthful

From S. K. Bhatnagar.

Bombay, being the premier city of India, is supposed to be better looked after in respect of sanitation which ensures the health of the general public than other cities of minor importance. But the present state of affairs is just the reverse of what one could or should expect.

If a person were just to take a walk over the Currey Road Railway Bridge, he is sure to be amazed at the fragrance of the surrounding air (from one end of the Bridge right upto the tramway station at the Currey Road termination), which not even the choicest flowers could produce. A peep over the walls would suffice to show from what source the smell emanates. The roads on either side of the bridge present an awful sight.

It is not a question of an hour or two in morning or in the evening or any other time of the day but it is positively a 24-hour nuisance. Perhaps, the inhabitants of the locality hold a different view of the situation altogether.

Health and sanitation are closely related. With the neglect of sanitation, health is bound to suffer. It is rather a pity that the Municipal authorities, who are wholly responsible for the health of the public in general, should have slept over the existing insanitary conditions in this part of the city.

I would suggest that, if a few offenders were to be prosecuted, it would tend to help matters to a certain extent. By the co-operation of the Police authorities the culprits could be easily singled out or in the alternative, if that is not possible, the Municipal authorities should depute a special man who could keep a watch over and make a note of such persons.

Also, a public convenience should be constructed without the least delay to put an end to this nuisance.

"Arabian Nights" In Rampur!

From B. F. Bharucha.

May we know as to.

(1) Who is the author of these "Arabian Nights" in Rampur?

(2) Who has written the scenario?

(3) Who has directed it?

(4) And who has staged it?

(5) Is it true, that a sister of the Nawab of Rampur is the Heroine?

(6) That she has left the State?

(7) And seeks the protection of the Government of India?

(8) Is the Nawab of Rampur aware of her dramatic experiences at the hands of the Rampur Royalty?—Necessitating her practical exile from Rampur?

(9) Does not her statement read like a chapter from "Arabian Nights"?

Will not the Nawab set right the wrong done to his own sister? The sooner he does, the better for all concerned.

Blind Nationalism Isolates Culture

Speaking On "Renascent India", Mrs. Naidu Warns Youths Against Growing Tendency To Remain Ignorant Patriots Lacking In Good Manners

Aggressive and narrow Nationalism, which seeks to isolate itself from world currents and a growing tendency to remain merely ignorant patriots without the urge for organised knowledge and discipline, essential for the creation of future administrators, ambassadors, soldiers and statesmen, and the real architects and engineers of Independent India——were pointed out to be the two great dangers arising out of the Indian renaissance by Mrs. Sarojini Naidu speaking on "Renascent India," at the Blavatsky Lodge on Friday evening. Mrs. Hansa Mehta presided.

Declaring her firm faith in the renaissance following the emergence of Mahatma Gandhi on the Indian political horizon, Mrs. Naidu said that, despite the feeling of despondency that seemed to pervade, she believed that "underneath the surface of death-like stillness there was intensive life preparing itself for a new mode of expression and that a raging fire, a volcano was preparing to burst up again."

"For me there is no death," continued Mrs. Naidu, "whether visible to the eye or otherwise. I know that the country is moving towards its inevitable goal of Independence."

DANGER TO POLITICAL LIFE.

One of the dangers to their political life in the opinion of the speaker, was that narrow nationalism passed off as a virtue in the country. "I have no place in my life for that narrow patriotism and blind organised nationalism which stands for isolation from all currents of the world. But that is a danger which has come in our midst. With the passion for liberty and desire to be free from foreign domination has also come that dreadful form of nationalism, which has been the ruin of other nations. That kind of nationalism is a menace to the world and our contribution to renaissance must be to strive to be world citizens."

IGNORANT PATRIOTS.

Pointing out the second danger of the present awakening, Mrs. Naidu said that, there was a growing tendency among the youth of the country to remain patriots and ignorant patriots at that. Culture seemed to be at a discount and the youths were inclined to be slovenly, lacking in good manners and discipline, because they thought, it was enough to be patriots. Not unusually did she meet young men with overgrown beards, who seemed to think: "Why should I be tidy when I am struggling for the independence of India?" (Laughter) She knew that they had wonderful capacity for sufferings. That may move mountains and out of such sufferings they may be able to carve out weapons of their own bones and carry on the battle for freedom.

ON LIBERTY.

But what they wanted, thought Mrs. Naidu, was patient work that brought discipline and organised knowledge to enable them not merely to win liberty but to sustain liberty and keep India in line with the other nations of the world. What worried the speaker was that, when they won independence and when they took charge of the affairs of the country entirely without the willing or unwilling hold of others, who were there to be architects and engineers of Independent India. She asked them to say, if the youths were preparing to replace their older leaders, who were passing away one by one, who was going to take the place of Mahatma Gandhi? Who were going to be the successors of Rabindranath Tagore, Mr. Bose and Sir P.C. Ray? asked Mrs. Sarojini Naidu.

LOVE OF SUFFERING.

In their ecstasy and love of suffering, they should be content to remain ignorant and they should cultivate the urge for organised knowledge so as to create India's future ambassadors, soldiers, generals and statesmen. Expressing the same idea in poetic language, Mrs. Naidu declared that she wanted the younger generation to contribute to the renaissance and rebirth of India by making culture and beauty to be the everyday inheritance of their lives. Beauty meant proportion, harmony and rhythm, and beauty would not allow itself to be dominated and be responsible to anything that was ugly.

Referring to the communal problem Mrs. Naidu said that, her reading of the history was that the problem of the various communities in India far from making for disunity and separation, as it appeared to the hostile eye, seemed to her to be very reason why India can and must achieve liberty—"a rich liberty full of diversity of individual contributions—harmonising and reconciliating and working towards a common destiny."

INDIAN RENAISSANCE.

Earlier Mrs. Naidu traced the history of renaissance in India which she thought really commenced with Raja Ram Mohan Roy, whose contribution to reforms in the social sphere was valuable. Then came the period of Rabindranath Tagore, a renaissance in culture and literature. The renaissance in the political field really commenced with the emergence of Mahatma Gandhi. It was then, that the old shibboleths were brushed aside and the then obtaining political catch phrases were trampled under foot.

It was the Mahatma who gave India the message that Freedom could not come as a gift from willing or unwilling hands of their foreign masters, but only through their sufferings.

Mrs. Hansa Mehta thanked the lecturer for the charming speech and said that Mrs. Naidu had thrown a challenge to the youths by asking whether they were prepared to take the place of their leaders, and it was for them to accept the challenge.

The lecture was held under the auspices of the Bombay Students' Brotherhood.

Don't Submit to Extractions

of Your Natural Teeth

Natural Teeth retain the Natural Beauty of the face and mouth. To extract them means going against the laws of Nature. Moreover extractions will never cure pyorrhoea. The real reason, why the teeth become loose, is the diseased condition of the gums. It recedes from the tooth and the tooth becomes loose. It is essential, therefore, to give gums the care they need. Rotarian Sees Silver Lining In W.E.C. Fiasco

MADRAS, Oct. 6.

The World Economic Conference failed to bring nations nearer to international currency standard, or liberation of trade, or a general rise of prices the failure of conference might have this result—that it revealed to the world in unmistakable terms the reasons for its failure. A time would doubtless come when with a knowledge of hard facts and experience of period, economic nationalism world would once more be driven to international cooperation.

This view was expressed by F. E. James M. L. A. addressing the weekly meeting of the Madras rotary Club this afternoon on the World Economic Conference. Continuing the speaker said that whatever method was used the fact of the necessity of cooperation remained the same as it did before the World Economic Conference.—A. P.

HINDUS LIVING IN CLOUDS

Prof. Chablani On Fate Of White Paper

KARACHI, Oct. 6.

"A persistent campaign has been going on in England in favour of Muslims, their culture and civilisation. Hindus on the other hand are often believed to be a disloyal lot, encouraging terrorism and prone to persecuting Untouchables and minorities," observed Prof. H. L. Chablani, the spokesman of Sind Hindus, who returned from London yesterday, in an interview with Associated Press.

FATE OF W. P. IN BALANCE

He added "there is a serious split in the Conservative Party and orientation of a new policy in Labour ranks, and he will be a bold prophet who ventures to prophesy what fate the White Paper will have in these cross currents of high politics."

"LIVING IN CLOUDS"

Mr. Chablani observed that some Hindu politicians outside Sind were still living in clouds and reactionary Muslims were left free to dictate their own terms. All this might affect the Sind question.

Concluding the Prof. said 'Given a continuous campaign in England, I will not feel surprised, if, the whole question of the separation on of Sind was deferred 'sine die,' or shelved altogether."—A. P.

KHADI ON PARADE

Splendid Specimen Of Hand-Spun Fabric At Exhibition

SHAWL WORTH RS. 10,000

Exquisite Piece Of Workmanship, That Entails Patient Labour Of Years, On View

"Science to-day enriches only the rich. If it comes to the aid of Home industry every rural, dungeon (miscalled Hut) will become an industrial centre and the wealthy of the nation will have a healthy circulation", so declares a placard that is hung up at the Khadi Show organised by the All India Spinners Association to be opened to the public by Mrs. Sarojini Naidu on Saturday evening.

The Exhibition, has been divided into several sections, in which a beautiful display of the different varieties of Khaddar and other handmade cloth is on view. It certainly impresses the visitor with the enormous advance that Khadi has made since its introduction more than a decade ago. It was quite evident that the home Industry—Khadi would develop to such an extent that it would successfully compete with any foreign cloth within in the near future, if proper encouragement is given. The Muslims from Andhra and Behar on exhibition recall to ones mind the historic days of the Splendour that was Ind

CHARKA INNOVATION.

There is an improvised Village Hut in the show, in which is kept the now famous Gandhi Sudharsan Charkha, invented by Mr. Rajagopal of Bangalore city. The Charkha is a simple and artistic one. The Spindle runs very smoothly by handpower at a speed of 15,000 revolutions per minute, the output being about 1,200 yards of yarn of 20 counts in an hour. The Charkha is like the model of a portable Gramaphone and Gandhiji has appreciated the work of the inventor, in that it helps the poor villager to earn more money in less time. Another remarkable feature of the Charkha is that the art of spinning is made easy and the quality of the yarn is very much improved so that the weaver, finds that the yarn spun from this Charkha can be easily woven. This Charkha it has been accepted by the Mysore Government for their Khadi centre at Badanval. It is rumored that the inventor will win the prize of one lakh offered by Mahatma Gandhi two years ago. The cost of the Charkha would be about Rs. 25.

The second section, is a maternity Home section, where only Khadi is used for every purpose. The section convinces a visitor that Khadi can cater even to Hospital needs. Two other sections, the bedroom and the drawing room are examples of what Khadi can do as a drawing-room necessity and other household purposes.

RING SHAWL.

A ring shawl which is 7 yards long and 65 inches wide weighs only 46 tolas and is priced at Rs. 331/4. It is interesting to note in this connection that this shawl was valued at Rs. 10,000 at Calcutta Congress Exhibition. The Jamewar shawl is an exquisite piece of workmanship, both in texture and the embroidary design and costs Rs. 450. It takes over an year for two artisans to produce a single shawl of this kind.

The whole show is artistically arranged and the numerous exhibits fine and beautiful.

League with two Maharajahs, three High Court Judges and four or five men very prominent in public life as its sponsors, but such interest as is displayed in these matters is eventually confined almost entirely to the educated classes and the practical effects on a population of 353 millions of whatever artificial restriction is actually practiced must be almost nil * * * At any rate there seems to be a good deal to be said in favour of arranging that in Maternity Clinics and during the course of "Baby Weeks" instruction in Birth Control should be provided."

NO DEFINITE LAW

In England there is no Law as also in India against the propaganda of Birth Control or against the general dissemination of information on the methods of preventing conception so long as there is no obscenity in the presentation of the information, but there is a ban against public and Municipal Health Officers giving contraceptive advice at the Medical Profession has to respond to the prevalent prudery against open contraceptive advice even in private practice.

In India the legal position is very much the same except that there is no ban on the part of the Executive Health Ministers disallowing contraceptive advice to married women if a local body may choose to permit it. The Indian Medical Profession follows the British professional convention as well as the popular prudery in this country.

REMOVAL OF BAN

The Ministers of Health in England at one time thought that, as the Health Centres were supported by public funds derived in part from the taxation of individuals with a conscientious objection to Birth Control, the ban had to be maintained. It was a Labour Minister who set aside this objection recently and with it the ban also, and now the Municipal and Local Bodies are free to permit their Health Officers to give contraceptive advice.

Mysore and Travancore Governments have permitted and established Contraceptive Clinics at certain public hospitals. Even to-day in India unfortunately there is a section of the Medical Profession who favour the control of conception on medical grounds but not on economic grounds.

Considerations of public health and the health of individuals depend upon economic circumstances and really speaking there is hardly anything in this prejudice against economic grounds to warrant the control of conception. There is no religious conscientious objection in India as in the case of the Roman Catholics of Europe but the masses are both illiterate and ignorant and therefore breed disgenically. Books both in English and in the vernaculars are freely sold for the benefit of literate persons and even so there is a lot of mischief done to the mind and body of an individual for want of expert guidance or complete scientific information being available in a book written from the medical as well as sociological standpoints.

A FIRST STEP

Under these circumstances progress would be very slow if things were allowed to take their own course under the local influence of semi-educated Municipal and Local Councillors. What is therefore necessary is more definite permissive legislation making all medical and public health officers free from the fear of any penalties which may be inflicted by any Statutory Medical Council under its Bye-Laws or by any Municipal or Local Body under its disciplinary control of its public Health servants. This would only be a first step which will have later on to be followed by further legislation making it obligatory on all Municipal and Local Bodies to provide for contraceptive advice through their Health Officers and public health propaganda.

NEW YORK MARKET CONSIDERABLY DEPRESSED

Effect Of Uncertainty Surrounding Developments At Washington Where Scepticism Prevails

("CHRONICLE" SPECIAL.)

BOMBAY, Friday.

The New York market has become very much depressed by the prevailing uncertainty surrounding the developments at Washington, where delay in taking action towards Government's future monetary policy has created a good deal of sceptiism over the future outlook.

Meanwhile, traders are adopting a waiting attitude, pending the announcement of the Bureau report on Monday next, and operators are loath to enter into fresh commitments.

Dealings in January opened at 9.73 i.e., one point lower, but prices soon gave way under Southern selling, and liquidation influenced by weaker Liverpool advices and uncertain tendency of stock exchange. Lack of support and renewed selling caused further decline, the rate for January touching at 9.63.

LIVERPOOL WHEAT.

Liverpool wheat opened steady at 56-3/4, 59-7/8 and 60, about a quarter penny higher on some speculative purchases and reactionary buying; but later turned quiet and narrow.

London Stock Exchange showed less activity. Gilt-edged securities exhibited somewhat better feeling The three-and-a-half p.c. Indian Sterling Loan was quoted at £86-1/2, i.e., one-eighth of a pound lower. London exchanges opened with sterling-dollar cross rate at 4.75-1/4, and remained practically steady throughout the session, with some minor fluctuations.

Franc opened at 78.68, with a steady tendency, and, later, rose to 78.75; but, thereafter reacted again to 78.65.

SILVER AND GOLD.

Local silver opened steady, there was nothing important doing and prices remained steady and finally steady at 56/4, 56/5, and 56/8, the same as opening rates.

Gold opened strong at 33/3/6, 33/3/9 and 33/4, in expectation of steadier opening franc rate, but a higher level attracted profit-taking and the banks selling which erased the gains. However, prices again improved on weaker sterling Paris rate. Thereafter the market kept pace with somewhat erratic movements in Paris The rate finally closed easy at 33/2/6, 32/2/9 and 32/2/10.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

LONDON, October 6.

Commodities are uninteresting. Wall Street is irregular with a narrow margin.

In Stock Exchange, with a fortnightly account, ending to-morrow, business was quiet, the tendency being irregular.

The New Zealand five million 3-1/2 per cent. loan, recently issued, was considerably over-subscribed. Dealings commenced in 5/8ths premium and closed with 3/4ths premium.

Tins were active with a slight improvement in the price.

Good business was done in sugar.—Reuter.

FAIR GOLD ARRIVALS FROM UPCOUNTRY

Weekly Market Reviews

(From O. S. Correspondent.)
Bombay, Oct. 6.

MONEY.

Money was somewhat steady this week and call funds were placed at about one per cent as compared with half per cent last week. The financing required for the current gold settlement and the fact that tenders for sterling were invited on Thursday instead of Wednesday account for the present steadiness. However, it is felt that as soon as the current settlement is over money rates will ease off. Government have borrowed from the Imperial Bank of India Rs. 50 lacs for Ways and Means. The trade demand as per the latest statement of the Bank shows an increase of Rs. 129.47 lacs, but this is largely due to a decrease in Other deposits, than to any real trade demand. The following are the fixed deposit rates:—One to three months 1 to 1 1/4 per cent. and six months 1 3/4 to 2 per cent.

IMPERIAL BANK.

The statement of the Imperial Bank of India as on September 29, 1933 shows a decline of Rs. 51.73 lacs in the cash balance of the Bank now standing at Rs. 25,25,85,000 as compared with Rs. 28.97 crores at this time last year The percentage of cash to liabilities is 29.94, a decrease of 0.31 per cent, under last week. While Cash credits show an increase of 14.31 lacs, Loans and Inland bills discounted are down by Rs. 27.45 lacs and by Rs. 1 lac respectively. Government deposits have risen by Rs. 57.52 lacs to Rs. 7.08 crores while other deposits eased off by Rs. 140.88 lacs to Rs. 76.23 crores. The item of Government securities shows a decline of Rs. 67.80 lacs to Rs. 46.13 crores The bank rate continues at 3 1/2 per cent.

GILT-EDGED MARKET.

Gilt-edged were somewhat easier during the early part of the week. 3 1/2 per cent. Paper declined from Rs. 84-4 to as low as Rs. 82-14, but subsequently recovered and closed at Rs. 83-4. Short-term bonds continue to be in good demand and it may be noted that there was not much decline in scrips that are dealt in for cash. 3 1/2 per cent. Loan due 1947-50 declined from Rs. 94 to Rs. 93-8. 4 per cent. Loan 1960-70 eased from Rs. 98-8 to Rs 98-4 but closed at Rs. 98-5. 4 per cent. 1934-37 loan was almost unchanged at Rs. 101-11 and 1943s at Rs. 101-13. 4 1/2 per cent. 1955-60 Loan lost about 4 annas to Rs. 105-5 and 1934 bonds are quoted at Rs. 101-12. 5 per cent. 1939-44 loan quietened to Rs. 106-10, 1940-43s to 106.9 and 1945-55 to Rs. 113-9. 5 1/2 per cent. 1938-40 loan showed little or no change at Rs. 107.12. 6 1/2 per cent. Bombay Development Loan is quoted at Rs. 107.15 and 6 1/2 per cent. Treasury bonds at Rs. 106-8.

EXCHANGE.

Sterling exchange was firm throughout the week with sellers of ready T. T. at 1/6-1/32 and few buyers under 1/6-1/16. Sales against fresh purchases of gold for export contributed to this strength Merchandise bills continue on a restricted scale. At yesterday's bidding for sterling, Government received tenders for £1,205,000, and allotted 83 per cent. In the forward market, rates were equally firm, there being sellers at 1/6-1/32 upto the end of this year and at 1s. 6d. upto April 1934.

The dollar sterling quotation improved from dol. 4.73-1/8 to dol. 4.79 1/2 and reacted and closed at dol. 4.75-1/2. The Paris London cross rate declined in mid-week to as low as 78.59, but improved and closed at 78.90. The Belga finished at 22.16 and the Italian lira at 58.81.

GOLD.

The tone of the gold market was firm and a fair amount of business was put through both for near and forward deliveries. After opening at Rs. 32-14-6, the rate for ready advanced in mid-week to as high as Rs. 33-7, but eased off towards the end to Rs. 33-2 and closed at Rs. 33-3-9. Rates in the local market moved in direct sympathy with the fluctuations in the Paris-London cross rate. Arrivals from up-country continued to be fair, and stocks on hand are estimated at about 3 lacs tolas. The daily offtake continues poor at about 2000/3000 tolas. The price of sovereigns moved in sympathy with gold and after reaching the highest of Rs. 20-15-9 and Rs. 21 closed at Rs. 20-14-0 and Rs. 20-14-3. The quotation for gold in London improved to 134sh. 8d. but closed at 133sh. 8 1/2d. Last week's shipment of gold amounted to Rs. 65.47 lacs per s.s. "Strathaird". In our market the highest and lowest rates were Rs. 33-7 and Rs. 32-14-3 for ready and October 6 settlement and Rs. 33-7-3 and Rs. 32-14-6 for November 3 settlement. The total imports during the week amounted to Rs. 90,070 in bar and coin.

SILVER.

An easy tone prevailed in the silver market this week with a decline of some 6 annas per 100 tolas in the price of ready, which after opening at Rs. 56.8 sagged to Rs. 56.1 yesterday but closed at Rs. 56.5. The volume of turnover continue small and the daily offtake is no better than 25 bars, while stocks on hand stand at the oppressive figure of about 10,000 bars. In Shanghai the dollar was almost unchanged at 1s. 3-7/16. The highest and lowest rates in London were 18 1/2d. and 18-5/16d. for ready and 18-5/8d. and 18-7/16d. for forward. In our market the highest and lowest rates were Rs. 56-8 and Rs. 56-1 for ready, Rs. 56-9 and Rs. 56-2 for October 10 settlement and Rs. 56-13 and Rs. 56-5 for November 7 settlement. The total imports during the week amounted to Rs. 46,000 in coin.

SHARES.

The Bombay Stock Exchange was closed throughout the week for forward dealings. A fair amount of business was put through during the latter part of the week in shares that are dealt in for ready delivery. Tata 2nd Pref. shares were placed at Rs. 97/4. Scindia steam shares improved and closed at Rs. 9-2.

KEMAL REFORMING TURKISH LANGUAGE

All Borrowed Words To Be Eliminated

Not content with giving Turkey a new alphabet, Mustafa Kemal is now reforming the Turkish language. Out go Arabic words. Out go Persian. Out go all words borrowed from the foreigner, and, as threequarters of the Turkish vocabulary consists of borrowed words, it is a struggle to find substitutes, writes the "Literary Digest."

Each day the newspapers print five or six words slated for expulsion, and challenge readers to make suggestions by drawing upon village dialects, mythical or national traditions, or even expressions used by Russian Tartars and the Turkoman of Central Asia, who are of Turkish stock. The best suggestions will be submitted to a commission of writers, professors, and foreign specialists presided over by Kemal. They are preparing a great national dictionary and a grammar.

WORDY WORDS DISAPPEAR

Already the language has changed amazingly, and Leon-Pierre Quint tells us in "Les Annales" that "books written a dozen or twenty years ago are now incomprehensible to the young. Octogenarian Abdulhak Hamid is universally regarded as the greatest Turkish poet, but to-day almost no one can read him. Indeed a thirty-year-old author hardly recognizes the novel he himself published barely four years ago.

"Wordy phrases are disappearing; epithets and verbs are no longer in their accustomed places; flowery Oriental locutions are abandoned for a terse, nervous style. So the Turks are asking what use there is in translating foreign books. Two or three years hence, nobody will be able to read the translations. Just now, the University needs reference works and text-books, especially scientific ones; but why translate foreign manuals or write Turkish ones when the job will so soon have to be done over again?

"In all this, Kemal has wished to make the Turiksh language a symbol of independence and of national re-birth, and the movement is paralleled elsewere. Tcheques, Croats, Flemings, the Irish and the Jews are all resuscitating their old languages. But how does Scripture regard the confusion of tongues at the Tower of Babel? As a curse."

Sentences On Jap Assassins Evoke Widespread Protest

Gen. Araki Receives Nine Amputated Fingers As Token Of Sympathy With Condemned "Patriots"

Nine little fingers, covered with blood, dropped in silk and placed in a casket of precious wood, were received by War Minister Araki along with a plea for pardon of the three second lieutenants sentenced to death for the murder of Premier Inukai, writes Tokyo correspondent of the "Chicago Daily Tribune."

The nine signers of the letter and nine donors of these curious tokens of their martial zeal said everyone in the army shared the convictions of the three condemned youths and stated their willingness to die for their comrades. They sent their fingers along as proof of his willingness.

On receiving the amputated fingers, Araki could not contain his emotion and exclaimed, "How can anyone doubt for an instant the future of such a country!" His military staff placed the fingers in a jar of alcohol and placed them on exhibit in his office.

HUE AND CRY.

A general hue and cry has been set up because of the sentences, which the Imperial Prosecutor was obliged to demand under article 25 of the army regulations, which condemns to death leaders in rebellion, condemns to life imprisonment all second offenders and sentences to lesser imprisonment lesser offenders.

Thus three cadets were sentenced to death, three to life imprisonment and five to minor terms.

Three hundred army officers who were in the condemned youths' class or at school at the same time have asked for pardon and have sent to every regiment's staff a proclamation declaring that they are fully behind the condemned youths' ideas. Inukai was murdered because he favoured a moderate policy toward China when the military leaders were clamouring for war.

One hundred and twenty Osaka lawyers also asked for pardon or at least lenity.

COTTON OUTLOOK

Prices Cheap And Good Investment

Bombay, October 5.

Messrs. P. Chrystal and Co., have issued the following weekly report:—

We have had another week of very dull and uninteresting markets. Fluctuations have been unusually small. Moderate hedge selling has been absorbed by trade buying, whilst other operators have been content to look on. In fact the market can be truly described as featureless. Another Bureau Report is due for publication on Monday, but in view of the weather reports which have come to hand during the last month it is not expected the crop estimate will show much change from the figure given last month. The crop this year looks like being around 12-1½ million bales. It would appear that under ten cents the American Farmer is not a keen seller but when prices go over his level he is quite prepared to let other people take care of what he has grown. Until some fresh feature arises we cannot expect much fluctuation.

The local market has also been exceedingly dull. Exporters are finding very little fresh demand. Europe and China have been only slightly interested and pending news from Simla, where the Textile Delegations appear to be slow in getting down to business. the boycott of Indian cotton by the Japanese continues.

India this year has had quite a satisfactory Monsoon and by this time there ought to have been good demand for cloth, but locally the market has been upset by the difficulties of a large group of Mills, dealers fearing that the large unsold stocks held in these Mills may have to be thrown on the market. We see no reason why this should happen, but for the time being confidence has been shaken.

The coming crop in the interior has benefited by the recent more favourable weather and arrivals are expected in many districts before the end of this month. Although the size of the crop has been reduced by the unfavourable weather of last month, quality is expected to be satisfactory. Indian cotton is now cheap and we consider it a good investment at present prices

SOUTHERN HEDGE & NEW ORLEANS SELLING

Cotton Goods Market Quiet But Steady

ABSENCE OF IMPORTANT BUYING

Pre-Bureau Hesitancy

Bombay, Oct. 6

The New York cotton futures market was easier on Thursday in the absence of any important buying and also by Southern hedge-selling and New Orleans selling. The market opened quiet at a decline of 5 points and ruled steady during the early part of the day. There was scattered buying which improved prices by 2 points from the opening level but later increased selling resulted in a decline of 16 points from the highest level on increased Southern selling. There was pre-Bureau hesitant feeling and the market closed at a net decline of 18 to 23 points. Spot cotton prices declined 20 points to 9.70c.

The New Orleans cotton futures market was easy and closed at a decline of 22 to 23 points. Spot totton prices were lowered 22 points to 9.47c.

LIVERPOOL MARKET.

The Liverpool cotton futures market opened 2 to 3 points higher. The market was quiet and featureless. Scattered Continental buying with light offerings caused steadiness during the early part. Later on lower New York advices induced selling and the market closed unchanged. Middling American Spot cotton prices improved 5 points at 5.49d. per lb.

East Indian and Egyptian cotton sections were quiet but steady and closed unchanged to a rise of one point..

ALEXANDRIA MARKET

The Alexandria market was steady with a fairly good enquiry for Ashmouni contracts. The market closed at a rise of 5 to 17 points.

Pending the Bureau report and in the absence of any fresh development cotton prices are likely to fluctuate within a narrow range. Hedge selling is depressing price but trade is buying scale down.

Bombay, Oct. 6.

Disappointing New York advices is inducing long liquidation. Yesterday the New York market closed at a decline of 18 points and the local market was expected to open at Rs. 193 for Broach A/M delivery. Bull operators are losing confidence and their liquidation was responsible for weak opening at Rs. 192/8. Prices declined to Rs. 192 under increased selling, but the offerings were absorbed by shorts. Prices improved to Rs. 193. At this level the market was quiet with scattered business.

Liverpool Market was due to open at a decline of 10 points but opened steady 6 points down but later on a further fall of 3 points was recorded. In the local market there was nervous liquidation which depressed prices to Rs. 191/8. At this level there was important covering which hardened prices and the market closed at 5-30 p.m. as under:—

Simla Talks To End Early?

BECAUSE NON-OFFICIAL INDIAN ADVISERS ARE FED UP

No Earthly Use Holding Merely Watching Brief When Parleys Behind Purdah Go On

(From Our Correspondent.)
SIMLA, Oct. 6.

The prospect of an early termination of Simla talks is being discussed to-day. Not because any hopeful signs have developed, but because non-official Indian advisers think it is no use staying longer. Their plan, particularly that of Indian mill interests, is to put their proposals on paper, sign them and hand them over to the Government of India delegates and let them do what they can in their negotiations.

WATCHING BRIEF USELESS.

The reason, of course, is that Indian advisers do not know what is happening behind the scenes and no one, neither Japanese nor Lancashire nor Indian Government, have put before them any proposals for their opinion. They think that watching brief is of not of much consequence.

Japanese had talks with Indian millowners, to-day, but there was no result. They are reported to have maintained that they are not still equipped with facts from Tokio and are not in position to make proposals, while Indian millowners feel that the Japanese could not have come all this way without having made up their mind regarding the line to take. They quote a speech made by Mr. Kurata in Japan, wherein he has stated that he had proposals both for peaceful settlement and for non-peaceful settlement.

PUTTING TRUST IN OFFICIAL CONFERENCE.

However, the Japanese are trusting more to the official Conference than to unofficial talks, and have for the moment promised further talks with Indian unofficial interests on Monday.

They are declaring that whatever the past or present might be, there would hereafter be a rise in prices, and that calculations should be based on that.

MILLOWNERS WANT POSITIVE ASSURANCE.

Indian millowners, however, feel that this is an assumption which could not be made lightly in case of Japan, and they must have positive assurance that any proposals that emerge from the negotiations would not, in any way, injure the interests of the Indian industry. They also allege that the Japanese have done a lot of propaganda in cotton-growing districts of India to back their plans.

FILM STAR DEAD

Renee Adoree Falls Victim To Tuberculosis

(Special Cable)
HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 6.

The death has occurred of the film star Renee Adoree of consumption.

Renee Adoree was born in 1898 in France in the town of Lille. Her father was the proprietor of a small travelling Circus. Here little Renee had her first debut as a trick rider and dancer in an atmosphere of sawdust, till later she was engaged in the famous Folies Bergers. During the sacking of Belgium by the Germans, she was dancing in Brussels, but managed to escape to France where for a time she led a nomadic life dancing for the French troops some times and acting as a Red-Cross Volunteer at other times. After a short career as a cabaret singer in London, she migrated to America as a Vaudeville artist. She made her first appearance on the silver-screen in the "Strongest", a strory based on the life of Georges Clemenceau. Since then her film career can be really said to have begun, starring leading roles in many American films including the "Eternal Struggle", "Monte Cristo" and the "Big Parade".

The first real tragedy in her life occured in 1927 while staging snow-storm scenes with a party of film artists in the Californian rockies. Renee Adoree was lost in a blizzard during the filming operations and was not found for several days. The producer, Lynn Reynolds who rescued her from the Jaws of death, prostrate with his nerve-shattering experience, shot himself. Adoree was formerly Mrs. Tom Moore.

LEAGUE FINANCES TO BE IMPROVED

British Insist On Overhaul Of Budgeting System

GENEVA, Oct 5

The whole system of League budgeting will be overhauled before the next Assembly, but at present only a modest saving of 150,000 francs can be effected.

British insistence on improved League finances has held up the work of the Fourth Committee during the past two days, and the decision to overhaul is the result. The question of putting pressure on defaulting States is still being discussed by a sub-committee.

The British, it is understood, favour the plan of presenting bills on the treasuries of countries in arrears.—Reuter's Special

FIGHT SCOURGE OF ILLITERACY IN INDIA

Concerted Effort In Field Of Mass Education Is Needed To-day, Says Mrs. Shuffi Tyabji, At Womens' Educational Conference

In moving the resolution dealing with mass education at Women's Educational Conference Mrs. Chuffi Tyabji, said:

In the All-India Census Report for 1931, which is just published a glowing picture is drawn of the increase in literacy. The percentage of this increase regarding some Provinces is shown as follows:—

Bombay	20.9 p.c.
Madras	19.1 p.c.
Bengal	9.7 p.c.
Punjab	46.9 p.c.
Delhi	70.6 p.c.
C.P.	38.1 p.c.

Outside British India Cochin tops the list with 87.0 per cent. increase and Kashmir is a good second with 71.5 per cent., while Hyderabad, Baroda, Mysore and Travancore follow next in order with an increase of 33.1, 59.6, 34.2 and 25.8 per cent. respectively. These figures are, however, grossly misleading. If we had in 1921 in a town with a total population of 10,000, 1,000 people registered as literates, and if in 1931 the population increased to say 12,000 and the literates to 2,000, the Census Officer will be quite justified in reporting that there was 100 per cent. increase in literacy. But what about the remaining 10,000, who are still illiterate. strictly speaking the increase would be from 10 per cent. to 16 per cent. only i.e. 6 per cent and not 100 per cent.

NOW MORE NUMEROUS.

According to the latest Census Report the total literate population of India in 1921 was 226,00,000 and is now 281,00,000 in round figures. This means an increase of 55,00,000 in ten years, whereas the actual increase in the population of India during the last decade comes to 3,39,00,000. In other words the illiterates in India now are more numerous by 2,84,00,000 than what they were in 1921. Compared with the population of India as a whole, however, the Census Commissioner admits that literacy in India as a whole has risen from 7 per cent to 8 per cent. So the rise is only 1 per cent.

Just imagine that in this vast country, which has been ruled by a civilized people for nearly a century,—and in the case of cities like Bombay and Madras for some centuries together there should be for every hundred persons as many as 92 illiterates! Could there be a more deplorable state of affairs than this?

MANY CAUSES.

There are many causes of this appalling illiteracy prevailing in India. First and foremost is the apathy of parents to sending their children to school. Secondly, the failure on the part of Government and Municipal and Local Boards to attain the object of producing literacy, which is the chief aim of Primary Education. There is considerable wastage in our Primary schools, which cannot be arrested without the voluntary or compulsory co-operation of the parents.

There were in the year 1931-32 in the Primary schools of this Presidency as many as 2,89,000 boys and 1,22,000 girls in round figures in the Infant Classes. But in St. 1 there were only 1,54,000 boys and 48,000 girls, while in St. IV this number was further reduced to 96,000 in the case of boys and only 16,000 in the case of girls. The falling off of numbers in the case of girls from 1,22,000 in the Infant class to only 16,000 in St. IV is simply appalling. It is an admitted fact that a child is not likely to remain literate unless it has passed the fourth Vernacular Standard.

So from the data available we find that out of 100 children who enter Primary schools, only 17 or 18 pass the Standard IV and become literate, and the rest, that is 82 to 83 per cent. lapse into illiteracy. This unhappy state of affairs is bound to continue unless strong efforts are made by those responsible for Primary education to prevent stagnation in the Infant classes and in the first Standard and to generally arrest wastage. Another contributory cause of illiteracy in India is the extreme poverty of the masses, which compels them to use their children as wage earners at a very early age.

ADULT EDUCATION

Adult education which is considered a panacea for illiteracy, is sorely neglected in India. The progress made in the field of adult education by our Presidency in the last quinquennium is unfortunately found to be in the reverse direction. In the year 1927-28 there were in the whole Presidency 255 schools attended by 8,758 pupils, whereas in the year 1931-32 the number of schools came down to 194 and of pupils to 7,405.

Concerted efforts in the field of mass education is the need of the hour and if Provincial Governments and Municipal and District Boards approach this problem with a determination to abolish illiteracy from among the people of India within a prescribed period, say ten or twenty years, the next Census of 1941 will enable India to hold a more honourable position in point of literacy among the nations of the world. With these words, Madam Chairman, I beg to move the resolution.

HORRORS OF ROHTAK FLOODS

The Secretary, Harijan Sewa Sangha, Rohtak, writes:—

"Reports received from the workers of Harijan Sewa Sangha Rohtak go to show that the recent rains have caused great havoc throughout a large portion of the District of Rohtak. Hundreds of families of Harijans have been rendered homeless and penniless because in many cases their only property, goats and sheep, have perished.

The local Harijan Sewa Sangha has prepared a scheme to help those Harijan families who are quite unable to reconstruct their houses.

Efficient and experienced workers of the Sangha are preparing the lists of estimates for rebuilding the collapsed houses of the Harijans, who are most deserving for receiving help.

Funds are needed for this purpose.
